FORSTER DECREES UNION; POLAND READY FOR WAR

BRITISH STAND PAT ON RECEIVING GRAVE NEWS OF HITLER ACT

Fuehrer Accepts Free City Into Greater Germany After Forster Suspends the Constitution.

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler today accepted the Free City of Danzig into the Reich.

The Fuehrer acted after Albert Forster, Nazi chief of state of the Free City and Nazi district leader there, had proclaimed the re-union of the Baltic city with Hitler's Germany, and begged the Fuehrer to accept it.

Forster notified Adolf Hitler, fuehrer of Germany, of his action, by telegram.

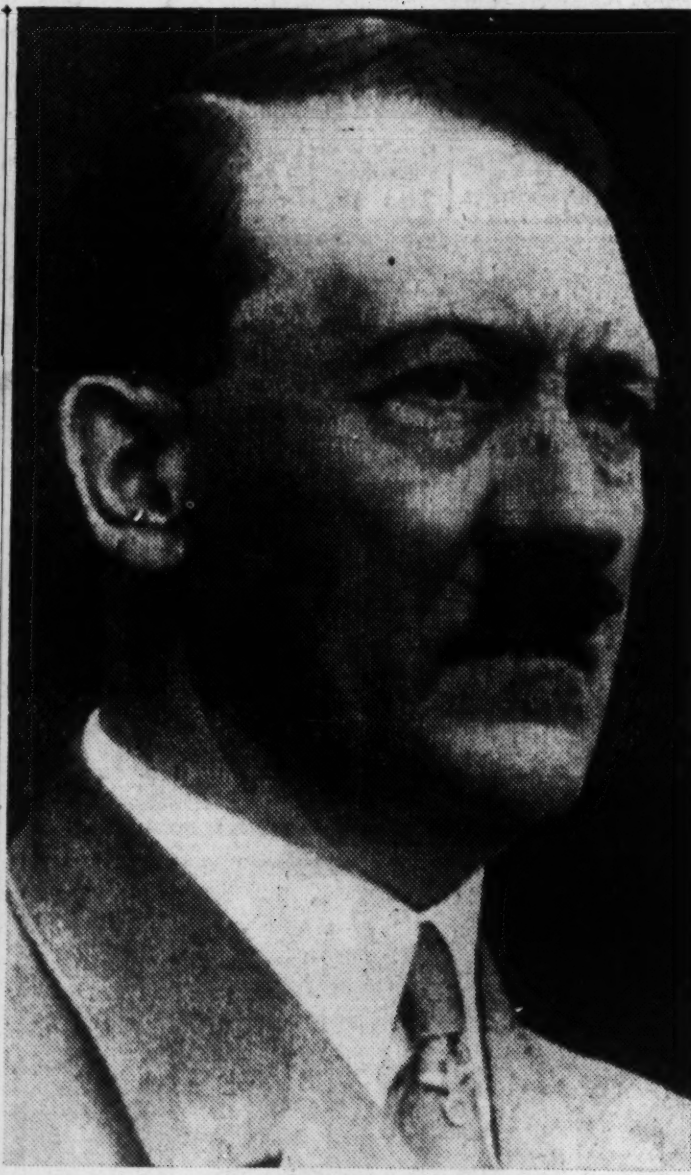

Article I of Forster's decree suspended the Immediate Cabinet Meeting Expected To Survey Hitler's Order to German Army on Border.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—(6:45 A. M.)—(Passed through British censorship)—Great Britain, standing pat on her pledge to fight for Poland's independence, received the news of Germany's latest moves in the European crisis with the deepest gravity today as the nation moved swiftly toward a full war footing.

An immediate cabinet meeting was expected to survey the implications both of Germany's 11th-hour 16-point proposal to

Great Britain Under Airtight Censorship

Government Applies Restrictions Upon Purchase of Foods and All Civil Aircraft; Telephone Service Abroad Suspended; Night Flying Halted.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—(Passed by British censor.)—Acting under defense regulations, the government tonight established full censorship of all communications in and out of England, applied restrictions upon the purchase of food and upon flights of civil aircraft in the United Kingdom, and suspended all telephone service abroad.

At 6:57 p. m. (12:57 p. m., Atlanta time) censors walked into cable, telephone and wireless offices and halted all services. Shortly thereafter it was announced that cabled news copy must be submitted to the censor at cable offices. Meanwhile the telephone exchange refused all outgoing calls and said incoming calls also were subject to the censor.

It was made an offense for anyone to buy more than a week's supply of any kind of food. The restriction does not apply to stocks of food acquired by merchants in the ordinary manner, but it is an offense for a merchant to sell to a customer if he has grounds for knowing the customer is buying an excessive quantity. It was stated officially the order does not mean there is a food shortage. The government's plan was designed to prevent profiteering and to maintain the flow of distribution and provide all regularly with a fair share.

One week's supply of food generally was taken as a reasonable maximum limit. The board of trade authorized search of any premises to learn whether the order was being contravened.

The civil aircraft flight restrictions were announced about the same time. Certain areas were announced as prohibited, including most of eastern England.

Land planes were restricted to landings at Shoreham, Belfast, Bristol, Liverpool, and Perth and flying boats to Poole and Pembroke.

Planes were forbidden to fly at night. The carriage of arms, ex-

Ships Warned to Stay Out of Waters Within German-Polish War Zone; All But Military Planes Forbidden Over Reich

BULLETIN!

WARSAW, Sept. 1.—(UP)—The Polish government announced today that Germans had bombed the railroad station at Czew and the town of Rypnic, as well as the town of Putzk, near Czew.

Military circles said that "apparently general fighting has begun at most parts of the frontier."

The Polish island, Westerplate, in Danzig harbor, which has a munitions dump, was reported sending signals, indicating that it was being attacked, but the report was not confirmed.

Other reports that Cracow and Katowitz had been bombed were denied in reliable quarters.

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—(Friday)—(AP)—The German army was ordered to "meet force with force" and Poland was declared dangerous territory for foreigners by Adolf Hitler today at 5:30 a. m. (11:30 p. m. Atlanta time Thursday).

At the same time a naval blockade of the Polish harbor of Gdynia was announced.

The Fuehrer proclaimed his action was because of alleged Polish violations of the German frontier.

Neutral ships in the Baltic were warned they entered Danzig harbor or near-by harbors at their own peril.

The announcement said military operations necessitated these measures.

Hitler gave his orders to his army at 5:30 a. m. (11:30 p. m. Atlanta time, Thursday) to use "force against force."

The command was issued as the order of the day to the army massed

Artillery Fire Heard

GLEIWITZ, Germany, Sept. 1.—(AP)—(Direct)—Gleiwitz residents reported artillery fire was heard "in the distance" at 5:30 a. m. today (11:30 p. m., E. S. T., Thursday). Gleiwitz is but a few miles from the Polish Silesian border.

Vast Forces On Move

GLEIWITZ, Germany, Sept. 1.—(AP)—(Telephoned to Copenhagen and passed by British censor)—The largest troop movement seen here since the night of last Friday and Saturday were noted this morning between Beuthen and Gleiwitz near the Polish Silesian border.

Between Beuthen and Gleiwitz on the border an almost unbroken line of pack wag-

SEPTEMBER DATE FOR STAMP ISSUE

300th Printing Anniversary To Be Celebrated.

Three-cent stamps commemorating the three-hundredth anniversary of the introduction of the first printing press in the North American colonies will be on sale here soon after September 25, Postmaster Lon F. Livingston announced yesterday. Livingston also stated that the issue memorializing the 25th anniversary of the opening of the Panama Canal has been received and is now on sale.

NEUTRALITY CHANGES URGED BY M'KELLAR

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(P)—Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, today advocated a special session of congress to amend the neutrality act "in the interest of world peace."

"We should pass legislation before any active hostilities are begun," he said in a statement.

McKellar expressed belief that "a large majority" of congress members who opposed Secretary Hull's cash and carry proposal at the regular session "would favor the real substance of these proposals now."

Bid Summer 'Fond Farewell' With a Picnic

Bid a joyous farewell to summer with a Labor Day picnic. With cake, fruit, olives, jam and a picnic meat loaf a happy celebration is assured.

By SALLY SAVER.

Many a picnic will be planned this week end as we prepare to take one last fling at summer. Picnic menus can be quite elaborate if you choose to have them so, because modern gadgets have made many items which used to be taboo, quite carry-able.

If you want to take a roast chicken or other roast to the picnic, just put it into the roaster with some browned vegetables, put the cover on tight and cart it right along. You can make the gravy over the picnic fire if you mix the flour and seasonings at home and take them along in a little jar. Your salad may be packed in individual paper cups; the dressing carried along in a tightly covered jar or bottle, if you please.

Baked beans, pepped up with a little catsup or chili sauce are hearty picnic fare. They'll stay hot an hour or longer if the dish is wrapped in plenty of newspapers or a blanket.

Brown bread may be made into sandwiches filled with shredded lettuce or cress or a cream cheese filling.

Savory meat pies with lots of vegetables and brown gravy like picnicking very well and they're easy on the budget. The pies may be reheated over the camp fire. Serve a selection of sliced tomatoes and cucumbers or a fruit salad with them.

Canned meats are a great help in planning picnics. They come in such assortment as: corned beef, tongue, ham, meat loaf, tiny cooked sausages and many others.

Filled cookies are grand for picnics. Put a chopped prune filling in your regular sugar cookies. A date-nut filling does lots for plain oatmeal cookies. Fruit, chocolate or spice loaf or gingerbread carry well. But coconut or devil's food cake with luscious icings make wonderful picnic eating also.

Egypt has more onions than in several years because of a bumper crop and a scarcity of buyers.

HECHTS SAIL HOME ON REFUGEE SHIP

Atlantans Among Americans Being Evacuated.

After leaving Germany a few days ago, Mrs. Robert Hecht and daughter, Miss Mia Lotte Hecht, sailed Wednesday for New York on the Royal Dutch mail steamer, Johan Van Oldenbarnevelt. The steamer, which sailed from Rotterdam, has been chartered by the United States government and is carrying only American passengers who are being evacuated from European danger zones.

Mrs. Hecht and her daughter have been visiting in Germany for the past three weeks. In Atlanta they make their home at 191 Peachtree Battle avenue.

American glass brick is to be introduced into Java.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Steady recovery of Senator George, Democrat, Georgia, from effects of a cataract operation was reported today by his secretary. "He spent a very restful night and is coming along nicely," said Miss Christie Bell Kennedy, of Tifton, the senator's secretary. Dr. J. M. Dunnington, eye specialist, performed the operation at Presbyterian hospital yesterday, removing a cataract from the senator's right eye.

Senator George entered the hospital Monday, being accompanied to New York by his wife and his son, Heard George, of Atlanta.

Women of 18 countries attended the convention in London of the Associated Country Women of the World.

Sometimes it is convenient to combine breakfast and lunch, especially on a holiday when the family sleeps late, or when you're entertaining at late breakfast for visitors. Many girls who are in business or wives who work downtown find that most of their entertaining must be done over week ends and there is a growing tendency toward Sunday breakfasts and Sunday suppers. Here are two menus which combine breakfast with luncheon dishes to make a substantial, yet not too heavy breakfast.

The recipes for coffee bread and bran coffee cake follow:

Coffee Bread.
2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1-4 teaspoon salt
1-2 cup granulated sugar
1-4 teaspoon cinnamon
5 tablespoons shortening
1 egg
2-3 cup milk
Mix together the flour, baking powder, salt, sugar and cinnamon. Cut in the shortening with a knife. Add the egg and milk. Mix lightly and pour into a shallow, greased baking pan. Cover with topping.

Topping.
4 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
2-3 cup dark brown sugar
1-2 cup raisins or dates
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1-3 cup nut meats (optional).
Mix the ingredients and spread on the soft dough. Bake 20 minutes in a moderate oven. Cut into squares and serve warm.

Bran Coffee Cake.
1-2 cups flour
1-2 cup bran
2 tablespoons baking powder
1 egg, beaten
1 cup milk
4 tablespoons melted shortening
1-4 teaspoon salt
Mix the ingredients lightly. Pour into shallow, greased pan and sprinkle with the topping, made as follows:

2-3 cup dark brown sugar
1-2 cup chopped raisins
1-3 cup shredded nuts
3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
1 teaspoon cinnamon
Mix ingredients and sprinkle over the soft dough. Bake 20 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve warm with butter.

Associated Press Writers Face Difficult Task in Covering Crisis

European Staff of Newsmen
Keeps 24-Hour Vigil Over Crisis.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(P)—Each hour the crisis continues, the job of keeping the world informed of developments grows more difficult for the newsmen and photographers of the Associated Press in Europe, but long preparation has insured the best available facilities and protection for the men themselves.

Censorships, interrupted and clogged communications lines, ragged national nerves and fantastic rumors which fly after every secret diplomatic move complicate the task.

News is routed by devious routes to avoid delays, Paris sometimes being forced to communicate with London via New York, for instance.

Here in London, nerve center of the A. P.'s European service—as in every other bureau—the government has demanded certain precautionary measures be taken.

Shelters Near By.
A gang of men surrounds the building, filling sandbags and piling them up above the windows. Air raid shelters near by will provide protection in the event of a real emergency.

Gas masks have been issued by most of the governments in Europe, but where no regular issue is available masks have been rushed by air for the use of A. P. staffmen.

Wives and families of most of the staffmen have left either for the United States or for safe refuge in the country.

Days off have been abolished and meals are brought into the offices.

In Paris taxis and buses are virtually non-existent in the early morning hours and most of the staff there are billeted in a small hotel within walking distance of the office.

Workmen are rushing around covering office windows with black paper and installing blue lights as air raid precautions.

Gas Masks Ready.
When a "black-out" is ordered police require that no gleam of light penetrate outside.

The Berlin bureau has an air raid shelter in its building and gas masks are ready.

As the tension increases regulations and restrictions grow space for the photographers. Many of the English, French and German employees in the photographic divisions have been called to the colors. Substitutes not eligible for military service have replaced them.

Due to the confusion attendant upon imposition of censorship and restrictions in most countries, life for the photographers has become a series of arrests and confiscations of photographic plates.

On 24-Hour Duty.
Virtually every contingency which has arisen so far already had been provided for either during or after last September's crisis.

More than 100 men, approximately half of them American newspapermen assigned to foreign bureaus, have been on 24-hour duty during the critical period.

In addition to the full staffs in London, Paris, Berlin and Rome, A. P. staffmen are in Moscow, Warsaw, Danzig and at border points covering the major danger spots on the European map.

More than a score staff photographers and photo editors in London and on the continent have covered preparedness operations of the various armies as well as the rapid succession of diplomatic conferences, transmitting their best pictures daily direct to New York via radio or cable.

Allies Invoke Censorship; German Lines Still Free

American Cable Companies Keep Direct Lines to Germany to Avoid Relay Through London Censor; British Ships
Refuse to Acknowledge Radio Signals.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(P)—A British-French-Polish censorship on cable and wireless messages addressed to the United States went into effect today, but late in the day traffic in words from Germany and other European countries was moving normally.

The British and their potential war allies established a series of regulations which prohibited the use of code and ciphers, RCA Communications, Inc., and commercial cable companies here were advised.

An additional requirement in some cases was that messages be either in French or English. American cable and wireless companies reported uniformly that business was extraordinarily heavy.

Direct Line to Reich.
A survey disclosed, too, that American cable companies had direct lines into Germany, Italy and all other major European powers without the necessity of a London relay.

While incoming messages were made unusually clear and detailed because of the pressure of the censorship regulations, American wireless companies were being forced to send "blind" in addressing the ships of potentially belligerent powers which now are at sea.

No British, German, French or Italian ship would even so much as acknowledge its call letters, for fear of thus betraying its position to possibly hostile craft.

Phone Calls Limited.
Overseas telephone service, American Telephone and Telegraph announced, had been sharply curtailed by a decision at the British end of the service that it would accept calls only to the Bank of England. France, too, was permitting only governmental and banking calls.

One authoritative source, commenting on the outlook for intra-continental exchange of non-military information in Europe, said it could be made most difficult, because the existing short wave stations could be quickly silenced.

Meanwhile, the American radio chains—NBC, CBS, Mutual—had no assurances that transoceanic broadcasts scheduled tomorrow would come off. Columbia had difficulty during the afternoon in picking up London, although it was eventually successful.

Shipping in Confusion.
The widespread injury to normal communication through wireless and cable was reflected also in shipping. Schedules were everywhere in disruption, as illustrated best by these incidents:

The Furness liner Queen of Bermuda sailed this morning, without passengers, with her windows painted a frosty gray and her exterior lamp sockets without bulbs, for an unannounced destination—presumably England—thus interrupting the order of the British admiralty, a seven-year business of cruising from New York to Bermuda.

The U. S. liner Washington made ready, at the command of the government, to rush to Europe Saturday to evacuate Americans.

The great French liner Normandie lay in port here under instructions from Paris, and her departure was still indefinite.

"We are part of the general mobilization," said a French line spokesman, "and we have to wait for orders."

T. K. N.-LAMBA CHI
MERGER IS APPROVED
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 31. (P)—Merger of Lambda Chi Alpha and Theta Kappa Nu, college social fraternities, was approved here today by the grand chapter of the latter, thus assuring union of the two groups during the 1939-1940 college year.

BURT'S SHOE STORE TO OPEN ON VIADUCT

Shop of Feminine Footwear
Makes Formal Bow
Tomorrow.

Burt's Shoe Stores will open formally tomorrow one of the most modern equipped shoe stores in the south at 29 Whitehall street. It is situated in one of the newly constructed buildings on the "air rights property" on the viaduct over the state-owned railroad.

The spacious store is done in green, white and red with 150 modern, streamlined seats scattered about the store for the convenience of customers. Approximately 4452 square feet of floor space is provided.

A complete line of women's and misses' shoes of all styles and sizes will be stocked between a $1.99 and $2.98. Walter Randolph, manager, announced.

The showrooms have been so designed as to provide speed of service, with plenty of room for customers to wander about without crowding, Randolph said.

The store is air-conditioned and is equipped with indirect lighting. Covering the floor is a soft red carpet.

POPE SENDS NEW PLEA FOR PEACE TO FIVE POWERS

Latest Reports on Crisis Inspire Greater Vatican Effort to Avert War; Fear Deadline Sunday.

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Notes from Pope Pius XII were handed today to the British, French, Italian, German and Polish envoys to the Holy See and a Vatican informant said they contained appeals for a new effort to save Europe from war.

This action apparently had been decided upon only this morning, after the Pope had received latest reports on the international situation.

He summoned his secretary of state, Luigi Cardinal Maglione, of Castel Gandolfo, for an extraordinary audience.

On his return to the Vatican from the Pope's summer palace, Cardinal Maglione, asked the envoys of the five European powers principally concerned in the German-Polish quarrel to call at the secretariat of state.

To each he handed a document which, a Vatican informant said, contained "new and still more pressing insistence and prayers of the Pope that the existing tense situation be settled by peaceful means."

Vatican circles did not conceal their fears that war might be imminent, although some prelates connected with the Pope's peace efforts were hopeful it still might be averted. They said, however, that they feared a final solution must be expected by Sunday.

Throughout today there were signs of tense diplomatic activity at the Vatican.

SECURITY MARKETS LOWER BUT CALM

New York Stocks Are Off and Cotton Is Up in Quiet Trading.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(AP)—World security and commodity markets viewed the gradual lowering of European war clouds with more concern today, but were remarkably calm in appraising the day's developments.

New York stocks closed a few cents to around $2 a share lower on a turnover of less than 500,000 shares, indicating to market observers the almost complete lack of distress selling. Cotton was unchanged to 20 cents a bale up and a similarly narrow trend was observed by the group of international commodities comprising rubber, coffee, sugar, lead, tin and copper.

Wheat and corn at Chicago rose moderately, also reflecting the absence of any urgency to acquire these coveted war staples.

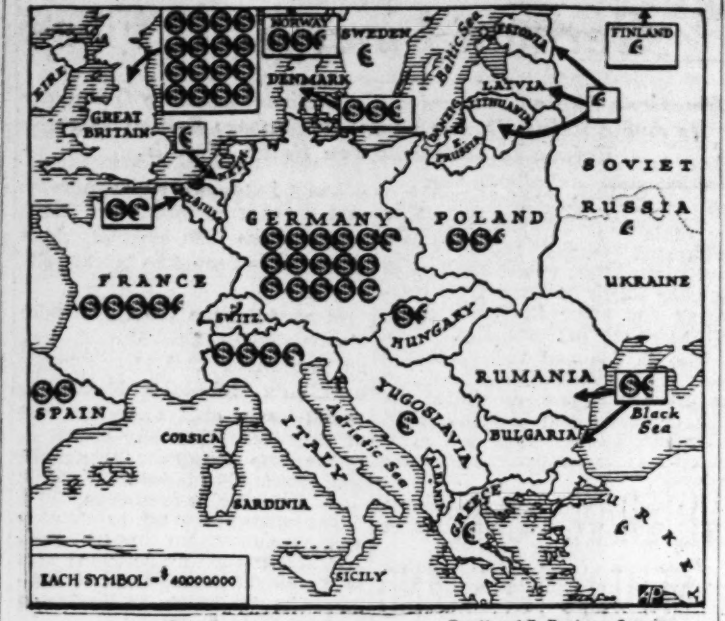

Prices in European exchanges were lower generally, but again business was quiet, and losses were confined to modest proportions where they did occur. The British pound sterling, however, was under new pressure.

Contained "new and still more pressing insistence and prayers of the Pope that the existing tense situation be settled by peaceful means."

U.S. European Stake More Than Two Billion

The figures are Department of Commerce estimates of United States private investments in European businesses and governments. We have $13,000,000,000 more "invested" in Europe, but very slim chance of getting it back. That is what is owed us for the last war.

Patrolman Michael Reiser, at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., has devised a method of improving live plugs. He drills a large hole at the top and a smaller one at the bottom, filling the bait with dry ice and plugging the top hole. The plug, floating on the water, emits a trail of fumes which assertedly proves an attraction to large fish.

The Communist party by a government witness at the maritime labor leader's deportation hearing today.

"Bridges and his entire defense are Communist party members," said Miles Humphreys, of Oakland, Cal., who testified he was once a Communist.

The attorneys, Miss Carol King, of New York, and Richard Gladstein and Aubrey Grossman, of San Francisco, smiled. Bridges chuckled.

Humphreys testified he was expelled from the Communist party in 1937, that he attended "20 or 30" Communist meetings with Bridges and had seen the west coast CIO leader presiding at one session.

Hitler Orders German Army To 'Meet Force With Force'

on Polish frontiers from the Baltic to the high Tatra mountains, and in East Prussia.

No instruction was made public, however, for any action except for German soldiers to "conduct a fight for honor and the right to the life of the resurrected German people."

It was not known immediately whether the army had orders to make an advance along the frontiers.

The radio announced immediately an indefinite closing of all schools in Germany.

Rapid-fire orders followed commanding masters of German vessels to get out of the Baltic sea and not to enter the Danzig or Polish harbors.

The radio warned all foreigners that Polish territory is a danger zone and their presence was at their own peril because of the likelihood of military action.

Another order issued shortly before 6 a. m. prohibited all except military plane flights over Germany.

A moment later came the radio order declaring the Polish harbor of Gdynia blockaded by the German army. Neutral vessels were warned to enter at their own peril because "military operations in this region are necessary."

Gdynia and Danzig are but a few miles apart in the same harbor.

The government announcement said German warships would meet foreign vessels steaming into the danger zone and instruct them where to go.

Ships were warned to stay out of waters between 18 degrees 5 minutes (the German-Polish border) and 20 degrees, east longitude.

Warlike orders issued by the war ministries to the German nation continued to pour forth.

East German communities were warned against possible attack by Polish planes.

But most of Berlin was still asleep and the streets were quiet, and many did not hear the instructions.

Between orders the radio blared forth martial music.

The order banning all but German military flights across Germany declared offending planes would be shot down.

Telephone communication with Danzig from Berlin was impossible.

Germans speculated on whether the Poles had cut the line across Pomorze (the Polish corridor).

The first extra edition of a Berlin newspaper to reach the streets after Hitler's proclamation bore the headline, "Force Against Force."

There was no suggestion yet either from an official or any other quarter, of a declaration of war.

Hitler's order of the day to the army read:

"The Polish state has rejected my efforts to establish neighborly relations, and instead has appealed to weapons.

"Germans in Poland are victims of a bloody terror, driven from home and home.

"A series of border violations unbearable for a great power show that the Poles no longer are willing to respect the German border.

"To put an end to these insane incursions, nothing remains but for me to meet force with force from now on.

"The German army will conduct a fight for honor and the right to the life of the resurrected German people with firm determination. I expect that every soldier, mindful of the great traditions of the eternal German military, will do his duty to the last.

"Remember always that you are representatives of the national socialist great Germany. Long live our people and our Reich!"

Announces Plan.
Hitler suddenly announced to the world last night a 16-point proposal for settlement of his quarrel with Poland. It included an immediate return of Danzig to Germany and a plebiscite in Pomorze, the so-called Polish corridor.

The proposals were announced in Berlin a few hours after Great Britain mobilized her navy, called up her entire regular army reserve, brought the air force to wartime strength and took other urgent steps in preparation for war including complete censorship of all communications to and from the British Isles.

Hitler's proposals, startling in that they fell far short of his previous adamantly announced demands, were made public under puzzling circumstances which left the world immediately no nearer an answer to the question of whether there is to be peace or war.

Door Still Open.
Whereas, the proposals were announced with the comment that Poland already had "rejected" them by failing to rush to Berlin an emissary prepared to conclude an agreement along the proposed lines, a German spokesman in London hinted that the door still was open for negotiations.

In Berlin itself there was no further clue as to the finality of the offer. It was said that only the Fuehrer himself knows what he would do, and that he had retired to solitary meditation to decide upon his course.

In addition to return of Danzig and the holding of the plebiscite—under direction of an international commission—Hitler's proposals are provided for an exchange of population in case the corridor were awarded to Germany, demilitarization of both Danzig and the neighboring Polish port of Gdynia, and in event of acceptance of the proposals, immediate demobilization of both Germany and Poland.

Proposals Cited Sensational.
Berlin dispatches characterized the proposals as "sensational" in that they fell far short of Hitler's previous unconditional demand that both Danzig and the corridor must go to Germany, and because the Fuehrer proposed submitting part of this problem to international control by Britain, France, Russia and Italy. Previously the Fuehrer always has declared Germany never would submit to such control.

As the proposals were announced in Berlin it was stated that Hitler had proposed on August 29 that a Polish representative go to Berlin by midnight of

GEORGIA MAY GET FIRST LONG STAMPS

Postal Officials Awaiting Return of Farley Before Making Decision.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Georgia was under consideration today as the first state in which a new postage stamp honoring Dr. Crawford W. Long would be placed on sale by the Post Office Department.

The scientist in whose memory the stamp will be issued was a pioneer in the use of ether as a surgical anesthetic. He was born in Danielsville, Ga., November 1, 1815, and died at Athens, Ga., in 1878.

Officials are awaiting the return from Europe of Postmaster General James A. Farley before announcing definitely the date and place of the first-day sale. The stamp is one of 35 to be issued in honor of famous American authors, scientists, poets, artists, educators, inventors and composers.

The Post Office Department announced tentative plans for each set of five stamps to be issued in denominations of 1 cent, 1½ cents, 2 cents, 3 cents and 5 cents.

Americans to be honored by new stamps are:

Authors: Ralph Waldo Emerson, Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain), Washington Irving, Louisa May Alcott and James Fenimore Cooper.

Scientists: Henry W. Longfellow, James Whitcomb Riley, Walt Whitman, John Greenleaf Whittier and James Russell Lowell.

Artists: James McNeill Whistler, Daniel Chester French, Augustus Saint-Gaudens, Gilbert Stuart and Frederic Remington.

Educators: Horace Mann, Charles W. Eliot, Booker T. Washington, Frances E. Willard and Mary McLeod Bethune.

Inventors: Alexander Graham Bell, Eli Whitney, Samuel F. B. Morse, Elias Howe and Cyrus H. McCormick.

Composers: John Philip Sousa, Edward MacDowell, F. J. Haydn, Victor Herbert and Elmer Bernstein.

They were selected after polls among philatelic societies and from suggestions of educational, business and patriotic organizations.

FASCISTS EXPECT REPLY TO QUESTION OF WAR BY SUNDAY

Troop Preparations Rushed; Duce Seeks Fusion of Monarchy and the Army Through Changes

ROME, Aug. 31.—(P)—Premier Mussolini today divided Italy into two military commands in further intense war preparations.

Fascist authorities said further mobilization by Poland and Britain and the closing of the Polish Corridor had heightened the crisis. There was a widespread feeling that the question whether there would be war would be answered by next Sunday.

Mussolini, as minister of war, assigned Crown Prince Umberto to command one-half of the metropolitan (home) forces which include those in African Libya.

The Fascist press said this would signify the "complete fusion of the monarchy and the army."

Graziani in Command.
Il Duce placed Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, veteran of the Ethiopian conquest, in command of the rest of the troops. It is believed he would conduct any war along the northern Italian frontier.

The order indicated Prince Umberto and Marshal Graziani would share command of the northern forces. Under Prince Umberto are two armies, commanded by Generals Adriano Marinetti and Camillo Gessi. Military experts believe Marinetti's command is the first army, with headquarters at Turin and that Cossoli's army is based at Bologna.

Graziani has charge of a group composed of General Vittorio Ambrosi's second army at Verona and General Ettore Bastico's new speedy, motorized army of the Po, which was the major counter-attacking force in recent maneuvers near the French frontier.

Since Italy's metropolitan forces are divided into five armies, including the army of the Po, it is assumed the fifth army would operate south of Rome.

Libya Not Affected.
Although Libya is considered part of Italian metropolitan territory, it was not affected by today's order, and is believed to be under separate command. Military experts estimate there are 80,000 Italian troops in Libya.

The Albanian army is also a separate command with an estimated strength of 100,000.

Services of the railroad and provincial motorbuses and coastal and light steamship lines were curtailed 50 per cent with oil and gasoline operated trains replaced by steam trains.

Excursion trains were cancelled effective next Monday, allowing Italians one more Sunday of holiday trips unless war intervened in the meantime.

Replaces Aged General.
Mussolini replaced the 86-year-old General Alfredo D'Alloio as head of the Italian arms industry.

Polish Destroyers Reported on Move

BERLIN, Aug. 31.—(P)—The official German news agency, DNB, reported from Danzig today that three Polish destroyers, the backbone of the Polish fleet, had left the Baltic sea.

The ships were last seen by German naval and air observers at Skagen headed in a westwardly direction, the agency reported.

Their base is Gdynia.

with General Favagosa, who was quartermaster general of the Italian troops in the Spanish civil war.

Severe penalties were established by decree for hoarding and profiteering. Punishment may be by imprisonment and fines up to 10,000 lire (about $526).

Rome and Vatican City again were ordered darkened tonight in further tests of precautions against air raids.

Travelers from northern Italy reported considerable military activity there of a precautionary nature. Authorities reported that 80 infantrymen of the frontier guards with machine guns had lined the 11,500-foot snow and ice-capped Alpine peak, Gran Pizastro, near the Brenner pass between Italy and Germany.

The newspapers reported that Italy was ready in morale and military strength for any eventuality and that the army was "assuming its war array."

FRANCE REAFFIRMS PLEDGE TO POLAND

Hitler's Demand Made Public;
Tension Heightened;
Paris Blacked Out.

PARIS, Aug. 31.—(P)—Germany's demands for a crisis settlement, providing for the return of Danzig and the holding of a plebiscite in the corridor, were made public in Paris tonight without immediate official comment.

The nature of the demands and the tone of the German press comment heightened the general feeling that the moment remains critical. A reported Italian proposal for a six-power peace conference had earlier buoyed up hopes in some quarters.

An attaché of the Polish embassy termed the demands "impossible."

The French cabinet, meanwhile, had met with President Lebrun and unanimously voted to maintain the full support of Poland.

Immediately after leaving the President's office in the Elysee palace tonight Premier Daladier went into conference with Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet, Finance Minister Paul Reynaud and Navy Minister Césaire Campinchi.

Whether the ministers discussed the reported Italian conference proposal during the two-and-a-half-hour cabinet meeting could not be ascertained.

A communique issued later said merely that the situation had been talked over and that the cabinet had unanimously approved continued support for Poland.

It was said in diplomatic quarters that the proposal called for a meeting of France, Britain, Germany, Italy, Russia and Poland. Whether the proposal already had been delivered or whether simply soundings had been made remained unclear.

The date mentioned was next Tuesday. The place of the proposed meeting was not mentioned.

While reports of the proposal caused a certain amount of cautious optimism among the public, diplomatic circles insisted that could see no reason yet to feel the situation had greatly changed in the past two days.

Whatever turn events may have taken in the last few hours, whether optimistic or not, France is continuing preparations to meet war at any moment.

Premier Daladier, before suddenly summoning the cabinet meeting, had another talk with Generalissimo Maurice Gustave Gamelin, chief of all French defense forces.

Windsor Appeals to Hitler

LONDON, Sept. 1.—(UP)—The News Chronicle said in an undated dispatch today that the Duke of Windsor sent a personal telegram to Adolf Hitler early this week begging him to make every possible effort to keep peace. Hitler did not reply.

Nazis Punish Hoarders

BERLIN, Aug. 31.—(UP)—A group of hoarders of clothing and foodstuffs in excess of ration card specifications were seized today, taken to the public welfare office, and made to peel potatoes. Many persons emptied their savings accounts Saturday and bought all they could Monday to avoid the rationing regulations.

Not Even Fuehrer's Chief Aides Know What Hitler Will Do Next

Chancellor Locks Self Up Alone for Hours in Most Critical Moments Deciding Future Course; Determined To Gain Ends Peacefully; Acts Unexpectedly.

By LOUIS LOCHNER.

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—(Friday)—Adolf Hitler today literally held the secret of his future moves in the Polish conflict in his own breast.

No one, not even Marshal Goering nor Rudolf Hess, his trusted lieutenants, knew what he would do next.

This version was given the Associated Press by a man who had opportunity for a check-all through the hour of the Fuehrer's actions during the past week.

In the most critical moments, he said, Hitler locks himself up in his room and sees no one.

Remains Alone Two Hours.
Such a moment came last night after Sir Neville Henderson, the British ambassador, presented him with Britain's counter-questions to his proposals.

For almost two hours he remained absolutely alone, deciding on his future course.

Tonight he was again reported in solitary meditation.

Men in his entourage are nearly at the end of their strength, this informant said. Night after night, since arriving at the chancellery a week ago tonight, Hitler has been working till dawn. At all through the night and early morning hours he kept summoning advisors, experts and aides.

Studies All Reports.
Each day he studies all the reports from abroad that reach Germany through the German official news agency. Many of these never appear in print, but they all reach the Fuehrer.

The Associated Press' informant said frankly that the Fuehrer's attitude during the present crisis puzzles many of his most ardent supporters.

"Our Fuehrer is so determined to enter history as a man who obtained everything by peaceful means that he has hesitated now for eight days," said the informant.

"During these days he has receded more and more from the MARINE INSURANCE ON CAPTURE BASIS

Underwriters See British Control of Seas.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(P)—Marine insurance underwriters, acting on the assumption that the navies of Great Britain and France would control the seas in the event of war, announced today that war risk insurance on ocean cargoes will go on a "free of British or French capture" basis September 6.

The new policies read: "Notwithstanding anything to the contrary, it is agreed that shipments which are shipped to or from ports in continental Europe or in any country bordering on the Mediterranean sea or Black sea shall not be covered or insured under this policy against any loss caused by capture, seizure, arrest, restraint, detention, requisition, nationalization or condemnation by or under the authority of the governments of Great Britain, France, or any of their dominions or any government allied or associated with them."

All war risk insurance already has been cancelled on German or Italian vessels.

SEARCH FOR SPIES PUSHED BY G-MEN

Murphy Says U. S. Will Not Repeat 1917 Experience.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(P)—Attorney General Murphy said today the justice department was pressing a vigorous anti-spy campaign.

"There's not going to be any repetition of 1917 when this Democracy was unprepared to meet an espionage problem," he declared emphatically when asked about the spy situation at his press conference.

New offices of the Federal Bureau of Investigation will be opened, in connection with the drive on spies, in Puerto Rico, Hawaii, the Panama Canal zone and Alaska, Murphy added that he and Director J. Edgar Hoover, of the FBI, also had been considering an office for Manila, P. I.

No white man ever saw one of New Zealand's strange bird birds, the moas, which died out centuries ago.

'Stop Jungle Trend,' Lord Lothian Says

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(P)—Lord Lothian, the new British ambassador, sat on the embassy's broad porch today and told newspapermen that if the processes at work in Europe in the last few years continue "the world will become nothing but a jungle."

"That has to be stopped first of all," he asserted.

Great Britain, he said, wants each nation to have a fair standard of living and political freedom, recognizing that from time to time the treaties in force must be revised. But, he added, revision cannot be undertaken by force or the threat of force.

VETERANS CHEER NEUTRALITY STAND

Smedley Butler and Lodge Demand Policy to Keep U. S. Out of War.

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—(P)—With memories still bright of wars which made them "buddies," the Veterans of Foreign Wars cheered today the demands of Major General Smedley Butler, United States marine corps, retired, and of United States Senator Lodge, Republican, Massachusetts, for a neutrality policy strong enough to keep this nation out of any European war.

"There are only two things for which Americans should be permitted to fight," shouted Butler, "defense of home and the bill of rights."

"We can stay out of any European war," Lodge asserted. "We should stay out, we must stay out."

High light of the policy-formulating session was a convention demand for legislation to give World War veterans pensions equivalent to those received by veterans of the Spanish-American War.

Passage of a federal statute granting the demand would give disabled World War veterans a pension on a graduated scale up to $60 a month, depending on the degree of disability, and all veterans a pension, even if not disabled, upon reaching 65 years.

Having waited 48 hours for the Poles to send a plenipotentiary delegate, he decided to learn from the Polish diplomat just where the Poles stood. Ambassador Jozef Lipski, however, could only tell him he had no instructions.

Stays in Chancellery.
During this entire crisis and since his arrival in Berlin, August 24, the Fuehrer has not left the chancellery nor has he stepped to the balcony to greet crowds on the Wilhelmplatz.

The crowds have been different in the past week from in previous times. There have been no loud "Heil Hitlers" nor "We want to see our Fuehrer." Now the crowds stand silently, almost pathetically, waiting for things to happen and for the terrible strain to be relieved somehow.

GOVERNOR DICKINSON CANCELS RADIO TALK

LANSING, Mich., Aug. 31.—(P)—Governor Luren D. Dickinson, refusing to permit censorship of an attack on modern-day morals and dancing, today canceled plans to deliver the speech over a Detroit radio station Sunday.

"There isn't anybody going to shape what I have to say," the Governor declared. He gave the uncensored text to newspapers for publication Sunday.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 31.—(P)—Weather observers said tonight a mild tropical storm in the Caribbean was moving rapidly west-northwestward near Puerto Rico.

The bureau here said an advisory issued by the San Juan, Puerto Rico, office reported the storm, described as "a slight tropical disturbance," about 150 miles south of Puerto Rico at 5 p. m. Atlanta time.

REICH NEARS LIMIT IN MARTIAL OUTPUT

Half of Productive Capacity Used for War Purposes, U. S. Experts Learn.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(P)—American military experts said today they had been informed that Germany was devoting 50 per cent of its productive capacity to military purposes.

German economy collapsed when the amount of productive capacity devoted to such purposes reached 65 per cent near the end of the World War, they added.

The large proportion of productive power which the Reich is now using to turn out munitions and support the army explains in large measure, the experts said, why Germany, even before the outbreak of a possible European conflict, has begun limiting the amount of food individual citizens may purchase.

Reduction of the standard of living is inevitable when a great amount of a nation's productive ability is put to non-productive war machines, it was pointed out.

Comparing the reported use of productive capacity, the experts said the American congress appropriated $1,783,187,847 for national defense in the fiscal year which began July 1 this year. The country's national income, the Commerce Department says, reached $64,000,000,000 in 1938. German income in 1937 was $28,531,000,000. French income has been estimated at $9,300,000,000 and the United Kingdom $19,102,000,000.

U. S. BUSINESS TERMED READY FOR WAR, PEACE

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(P)—American business was described as in a good position, either for peace or war, by the National City Bank in its September monthly bank letter today.

"In estimating the effects of the developments abroad," said the letter, "the conservatism that has prevailed is probably the most important consideration. It signifies that business will be able to withstand disturbance, and is likewise favorable with respect to the fall industrial outlook, if the crisis passes."

Correspondence Listed Between Berlin, London

BERLIN, Aug. 31.—(AP)—D. N. B., the official German news agency, tonight made the following announcement regarding the German-English correspondence:

"The British government in the note of August 28 to the German government offered to arrange direct negotiation between Germany and Poland on disputed problems. "The British government left no doubt that it appreciated the urgency of the danger to the general European situation as a consequence of continuing incidents. "The German government in an answer of August 22 despite its skepticism as to the will of the Polish government to come to any sort of an understanding, agreed to accept the offer of British mediation in the interest of peace.

Cite Need for Haste.

"It emphasized that in view of the situation there was need for hasty action if a catastrophe were to be avoided and that negotiations must take place at once. "It declared its willingness to receive an authorized representative of the Polish government up to the night of August 30 on condition that he be authorized not only to conduct discussions but to negotiate and conclude agreements. "The German government said further that pending the arrival of this Polish negotiator in Berlin it could inform the British government of the foundations of an offer for an understanding.

Poland Mobilizes.

"Instead of receiving a report of the arrival of an authorized Polish personality, the Reich's government got as an answer the report of Polish mobilization. "First on August 30 at almost midnight the German government received a more general assurance from the British government of a readiness on their part to begin negotiating.

"Despite the fact that by the failure of the Polish negotiators to arrive as expected by the German government, the preconditions for negotiations had vanished, the Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, gave the British ambassador a note bringing to his attention the text of the German proposals for presentation in event of the arrival of a Polish negotiator. "This was done because the British government since 1918 has pleaded for direct negotiations between Poland and Germany.

Expected Naming of Negotiator.
"The German government believed it had the right to expect under these conditions that at least the naming of a Polish negotiator would take place immediately.

"For it is to be said of the German government that it did not only express willingness to undertake such negotiations but also that it was standing ready but not to be put off by the Polish side with empty phrases and noncommittal statements.

"From the demarche which took place meanwhile it became clear that the Polish ambassador here was not authorized to enter any sort of discussions or negotiations. "So the Fuehrer and German government waited vainly for the arrival of a Polish negotiator.

Assumes Proposals Rejected.
"Under these circumstances the German government had to assume that its proposals were rejected although it was of the opinion that these were given in a form capable of loyal and fair fulfillment.

"The Reich's government believes in its duty to bring public attention these proposals presented by the Reich's Minister of Foreign Affairs von Ribbentrop to the British ambassador.

"The situation between Germany and Poland is such that any new incident could set off military forces drawn up on either side of the line.

"Any peaceful settlement must be of such a nature that conditions which now prevail cannot arise again because of new tension not only in eastern Europe but also in other territories.

"The causes of this development its first of all in the impossible border demarcations as they were arranged by the treaty of Versailles, secondly by the impossible treatment of minorities in the cut-off territory.

Attitude Presented.
"The Reich's government takes the attitude in these proposals to find a final solution which will remove the impossible border demarcation situation, guarantee both sides their vital connecting roads, remove the minorities problem in so far as possible, and in so far as this is not possible to make the fate of minorities bearable through a sure guarantee of their rights.

"The German government is convinced that it is essential to determine and to make good such economic and physical damage as has taken place since the year 1918. It is regarded as self-evident that such agreements should be binding on both sides. As a result of these observations the 16 concrete proposals were made."

THREE BURGLARIES REPORTED TO POLICE

Cash, Jewelry and Clothing Are Listed Among Losses.

Cutting a screen and gaining entrance through a rear door, a thief last night stole $13.50 from a woman's purse in the bedroom of the home of W. E. Cobble, 1662 Peachtree street, N. E. Mr. Cobble told police that he and his wife were at dinner when the burglary occurred, but said they were unaware that an intruder was in the home.

Mrs. W. D. Rieker, of 206 Eleventh street, N. E., reported to police that some person entered her home, probably with the aid of a passkey, and stole a $10 camera, two rings, one a diamond circle, with a total value of $35, a fraternity pin valued at $10 and a half-pint of whisky, valued at 65 cents. Burglars stole $21 worth of clothing from the home of E. H. Lipman, 720 Crew street, S. W., last night, according to police reports. Entrance was gained by raising a window and unlatching a screen.

Gus H. Gasser, in charge of the police burglar alarm system of the Atlanta Police Department, was fined $3 by Judge John H. Cone in recorder's court yesterday for reckless driving—accident and having no driver's license.

The case grew out of an accident August 21 when a car driven by W. J. McAlpine, of 67 Willow avenue, bumped a city truck, operated by Gasser, in the rear on Means street. McAlpine also was assessed $3 yesterday.

Gasser explained to Judge Cone that he had "forgotten to put my license in my pocket."

$45 WORTH OF TIRES

STOLEN FROM 2 CARS

Tire thieves got about $45 worth of tires and tubes in the robbery of two automobiles last night, according to police.

E. L. Martin, of 845 North Central avenue, Hapeville, reported to police that someone broke into his car while it was parked on the Pryor street viaduct and stole a tire valued at $15.

The second theft was reported by H. Epstein, of 318 Decatur street, who told police that someone took a tire and tube valued at $30 from his truck while it was parked in front of his place.

NEW RULES MOVE FOR STABILIZATION OF LIQUOR PRICES

Standard Schedule of Discounts Established by Regulations Becoming Effective Today.

An attempt at stabilizing the price of liquor in Georgia is made by the State Department of Revenue in its new rules and regulations for liquor dealers which become effective this morning.

The regulation of price is made under fair trade agreements by the establishment of set discounts at which wholesale dealers may sell their liquors to the retailers. Under the new rules, no whiskey may be transported from another state through Georgia to still another state unless it is sealed and bears a label setting forth the name of the shipper and his license number, the location of his business, the name of the purchaser, his license number and the place of his business. Stickers for this purpose will be provided by the revenue department.

Such interstate whiskey cannot be transported by persons other than common carriers.

An entire new section of rules affecting domestic distillers is included. It provides that all liquors and brandies manufactured in Georgia from home grown products must be at least 90 days of age; that their products cannot be marketed except through a salesman qualified with the revenue department, and that 15 cents per wine gallon tax must be paid on all domestic whiskeys intended for out of state consumption.

Women are forbidden to work for distillers, rectifiers and manufacturers of whiskey or brandies except in the capacity of clerical employees.

The regulations further provide that no distiller, importer or rectifier shipping alcoholic beverages, whiskeys and liquors into the state shall have any interest, direct or indirect, in the business of any wholesale or retail licensee in Georgia, or vice versa.

The rules provide for inspection of the liquor stocks and prohibits a distiller from having more than one distributor in any designated territory.

Copies of the new regulations were issued the wholesalers yesterday by Commissioner T. Grady Head.

"The Juggernaut Rolls"

The juggernaut of war rolls nearer. In its path are the humanities and the peoples of the earth; men, women and children. Like the juggernaut of the Indian worship, the juggernaut cares not. It is man-made and is propelled by man. It comes into being and moves only by the aid and the permission of man.

To the people in this nation, as well as in some others, the prospect of war seems the greatest sort of insanity. It is incomprehensible to the average mind that war should begin for no good reason; for no great cause. It is all the more fearful that such a thing could happen in a world which does not want war. And yet the juggernaut is moving, slowly but inexorably. There are hands pushing it and so few hands reached out to stay its course.

There are those who cry out in anguish to God. The heavens are filled with prayers. It is not surprising that God does not halt war by some divine interference. War is man's making. Man creates the hates, the furies, the falsehoods, the propaganda. Man builds the guns and man dies. And the only thing God-like is some of the dying because in all wars there are men who go forth to die for a principle. The rest of it is man's. It is his blood and his ambition which creates war.

There is so much else man might be doing. There are the sick of the earth. Great plagues exist. There are the crippled. Thousands of crippled children face a miserable existence. There are millions of blind ones who might see. One of the billions of dollars which will be fired into the air in the form of shells in one day's fighting of a great battle, might supply the means to discover a cure for cancer. The money spent for one supply of rifles might wipe out tuberculosis. The money spent for airplane bombs would build a new hospital in every country which could care for its sick and its hurt. It would finance musicians, painters, artists of all kinds, to make more beauty in the world. But the juggernaut, made by man, does not think. It rolls. It crushes all in its path. And already it trembles and is about to roll.

Until the first troops march, until the first barrage is put down, there is hope.

There are those of us who say they should go ahead and fight and crush this man whose only excuse for war is that he wants what some other nation has; whose reply to offers of mediation is that he must have what he asks before he will mediate.

There is talk of Russia's army marching with Germany's. Certain it is that the world soon is to see the conflict of the two ideologies, that of the totalitarian which assumes all the rights and privileges of the individual and leaves him none, not even the right of trial by jury, the right to freedom of worship, the right of a free press and free speech; and that of the republics where each citizen may lead his own life and enjoy certain rights which our own constitution declares to be inalienable. One day there must be a settlement. Now, France and England must decide. We may only hope and wonder at the insanity of a world in which no one wants war and yet one in which one may say it must be.

The juggernaut begins to tremble. It is about to move. Hands push it. Prayers try to halt it. It is a tug of war and it may be that a just God may trample out the vintage of the grapes of wrath; may loose the chained lightning of his terrible swift sword and let those who make war destroy themselves with their own hands. One may only hope.

A movable Thanksgiving isn't all. It looks as if Europe were fixing for an earlier Halloween.

It may be there is a promise that Hitler has kept, but who wants to go back through the files for six years?

What is left of sanity and civilization in Europe seems to be operating under a day-to-day franchise.

Also, what about moving New Year's Eve to another night, as it is embarrassing to hiccup in the middle of one's good resolutions.

Joe Stalin and the Fuehrer are plain fellows. It wouldn't occur to them to dig up a couple of gentlemen and make it a gentlemen's agreement.

This war crisis must be for the benefit of those who didn't catch "Idiot's Delight" in the third run houses.

American Neutrality

American policy in the event of war remains of paramount interest to the people of the United States.

It becomes important to study the apparent administration policy and attempt to rationalize it.

President Roosevelt patently is convinced the one and only method of avoiding the entry of America into the war, is to put American production behind the allies and assist them to win with American goods rather than American soldiers.

The President admittedly believes it is necessary to curb Hitler if world institutions, as we know them, are to survive. The late Woodrow Wilson was, for some time, in doubt.

Under the present neutrality law, we may sell wheat, cotton, copper, steel, machinery and all other foodstuffs and raw materials to any who come after them in their own ships. We may not sell guns, ammunition or planes.

This phase of our neutrality legislation may have influenced Germany to renounce all her standards of the Hitler period and to join with Russia. Germany undoubtedly believed England's superior navy would be able to maintain a blockade of severe effectiveness. Russia was at hand as an inexhaustible source of raw materials and, one may assume, all the munitions which Germany may want. With that supply at hand, Germany would concentrate her submarines on breaking down British shipping. It is a well-known fact that in the summer of 1917 England was within six weeks of losing the war. German subs were sinking an average of 100 merchant ships each week and food supplies were dangerously low. The Russian pact may render futile the English blockade.

If one wishes to be completely technical and assume that England would be able to keep the sea lanes clear, it then would not be real neutrality to sell to one while another could not obtain our supplies.

During the World War the trade of the United States in raw materials sold to England, France and the Allies, was three times as great as that in munitions. The charge was made by certain groups that our economic stake in the World War and the side of the Allies, made it absolutely necessary for us to go to war on their behalf. If this were true it would mean that raw materials, such as we now propose to sell, was three times as much a factor in bringing us into the war as was the sale of munitions, which we now ban.

All this is a part of the administration insistence that the law needs amending.

The administration will ask for, and likely receive, certain broad powers in the event of war. It is obvious that no neutrality law, however perfect, will insulate us from the shocks of a world war such as the last one.

The Constitution believes, however, in neutrality as the first step to keep us out of war. The good sense of the American people, schooled by the World War, must be counted on to do the rest.

Neither is there any inclination to view with alarm the present neutrality law. If it be incongruous and imperfect, then congress can and will amend it.

There will be ample time for this to be done, if it needs to be done, before a single ship could call for goods. There is no need to be hurried into neutrality legislation. The Constitution believes the wisdom of the congress of the United States will be a better judgment than an individual or committee judgment.

This country as yet assuredly has no stake in a European war.

Parent-Teacher Association.

As millions of children, happily or reluctantly, as the case may be, start the trek back to school within the week, they may do so in the belief that their parents are taking more interest, from year to year, in their educational welfare. For many years there was almost a total absence of that feeling of mutuality of interest between teachers and parents so necessary to success in public education.

The average parents scarcely knew the names of the teachers who taught their children. That is, unless a fractious youngster was sent home with that well-known complaining note. If punishment was meted out at all it was too frequently for infractions already committed rather than in the nature of seeking prior cooperation as a means of preventing their commission.

Today the ideas of co-operation, of working together, sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Associations, are as much a part of the public educational system as the school itself. Among the most tangible accomplishments of the associations has been providing wholesome lunches at the schools at nominal cost without profit. These cafeterias are managed exclusively by volunteer workers.

These school organizations are permitted to develop their own plans. Conditions are changed or improved to suit or fit individual needs. There are no orders coming from higher up. The work is truly localized and therefore democratic.

All parents of children in public school systems should familiarize themselves with the work and support it. They can do no better in this regard than to become members and participate in the activities.

The Fuehrer is unable to see any threat to Britain in what he does about Poland. After all, it isn't as if he had guaranteed British independence.

THE CAPITAL PARADE

By JOSEPH ALSOP AND ROBERT KINTNER.

INDUSTRIAL MOBILIZATION WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—In view of the world situation, it is natural there should be signs of an oncoming controversy about American industrial mobilization plans. War or the threat of war abroad inevitably started men's minds running on preparedness here. Equally inevitably, such military preparations as have been made are widely regarded as inadequate. The controversy is likely to be both long and loud.

Industrial mobilization is, of course, the very heart of military preparedness. Men may be trained rapidly, or even sent to the front only half-trained. But unless the men are to fight with their bare hands, as the imperial Russian armies sometimes had to in the World War, guns and shells, airplanes, rifles and bombs must be accurately manufactured. And it takes time to retool the nation's industry for war production. If the preparedness controversy develops as seems likely, more money for industrial mobilization will be at the center of it.

10,000 FACTORIES An elaborate industrial mobilization program has already been drawn up by the army and navy, and is now being reviewed and further developed by the newly appointed War Resources Board. The program's object is to have adequate supplies for an army of 1,000,000 men six months after the outbreak of war—which will probably, for a starter, be called unambitious by advocates of preparedness.

Work on the program began in earnest in 1935, when the army established an industrial college in which picked groups of 60 officers spent the next 10 months' courses in industrial technique and industrial problems due to arise in wartime. These trained men will serve as an industrial general staff when and if M-day comes, and meanwhile many of them are kept at the War Department perfecting and bringing up to date the mobilization plans.

They have examined and blueprinted between 15,000 and 18,000 of the nation's factories, and from this vast group of potential producers have selected between 9,000 and 10,000 key plants. These have been warned that in wartime they will be called on for war supplies, and methods, requirements for expansion of plant and even manufacturing contracts have been discussed with the various managements. Theoretically, an order from the President would start the machinery turning.

The army is well aware that the transition from peacetime to wartime production would take some time. In order to speed it up, educational orders have been distributed. Last year the comparatively tiny sum of $2,000,000 was spent for this purpose, but this year the appropriation is $16,500,000, exclusive of airplane orders. In all, 7,000 different kinds of supplies will be required, but only 53 processes of manufacture are not already in commercial use. Of these 53 the most difficult and important are now being provided for.

The ideal is for every manufacturer to know just what and how much he must turn out, and to be prepared to transform his plant for the new production within a specified time. The army and the civilian war resources board, meanwhile, are to supervise production schedules, distribute raw materials, and pass on problems of labor supply.

COMMOTION AHEAD The criticism of those who are voicing doubts about industrial mobilization goes to three main points. In the first place, it is said that the kind of retooling that the industrial college hardly equips men without manufacturing experience to be members of an industrial general staff. In the second, there is some doubt as to whether the program makes proper provision for the wartime needs of the civilian population.

And finally, the educational orders are attacked as having been hopelessly small. The fault is more congress than the army's, if there is fault. But regardless of whose the blame may be, it is argued that, because of the smallness of the orders, workmen have not been trained, manufacturers have had no real experience in the kind of retooling that will be required of them, and all of the industrial mobilization plans are mere blueprints at the War Department.

The army's answers to these points appear to be cogent and reasonable. But the question who is right or who is wrong is hardly important as yet. It is only worth remembering that a big preparedness drive, with attendant hullabaloo and recrimination, is a phenomenon now to be looked for.

ON THE RECORD

By DOROTHY THOMPSON.

Erasee's Infame!

Do you feel as I do—a fantastic, dreamlike, unreal quality—about everything that has happened in this week of strain? Something ominous, which is not fear of war? Something that fills the nerves with foreboding, which is not foreboding of a great struggle? A sense of sickness—as though all the world and everything in it, you and I, were sick in our nerves and in our brains and in our hearts.

We hang on our radios and listen to persuasive voices retelling news and "interpreting" events. (I listen to my own voice on the radio "interpreting" events. It seems like somebody else's voice.) We read the diplomatic notes exchanged between the heads of states. (Never did they seem more like "heads of states." Never less like spokesmen for nations, of people.)

CAREFULLY PHRASED ISSUES The issues are carefully phrased and formulated. Nations are perhaps preparing for war. The heads of states are writing the White Papers now by which history will judge them. The issue, they say, is not Danzig or the Corridor. The issue, they say, is whether Germany is willing to negotiate without threat of force.

The words are all hollow. It makes one sick to listen to them wherever they come from, on all sides. And now I know what it is that gives this sense of sickness. It is that nobody in the world is saying one simple truthful word.

Nobody is saying not only what he thinks but what he knows. What everybody knows. And that simple truthful word is that the world will go on like this, in crisis after crisis, as long as the instruments of power of a great nation are in the hands of a man who is an atheist, a liar, a murderer, a blackmailer, and a thief.

PREY LIKE PIRATES We know that Germany is ruled by a gang. By the supercriminals of history. We know that they came into power by lies by promises that they never intended to keep, by throwing the country into a panic; that they made a final coup de grace by setting fire to their own Reichstag and by blaming it on somebody else; that a year later they went on a rampage of wholesale murder; we know that it is they who "occupy" a great country, and have tortured the innocent, stolen the national wealth, often for their own personal uses, and preyed, like pirates, on the world.

We know that Hitler has broken every promise that he ever made. He made a nonaggression pact with Poland in 1934—at the point of Marshal Pilsudski's pistol, for the late Marshal Pilsudski understood the nature of Mr. Hitler and his movement. Hitler broke it unilaterally the moment he was ready to strike. In between, on four different occasions—the dates are January 26, 1935; November 5, 1937; February 20, 1938, and September 12, 1938—he reiterated publicly that he was satisfied with the present arrangements regarding Poland and that there was no cause of contention between the two nations. His Foreign Minister Ribbentrop, as late as January 26, 1939, denied that Germany had any quarrel with Poland. And on September 26, 1938, speaking in the Sportsplatz in Berlin, Hitler said: "The Sudetenland is the last territorial demand I have to make in Europe."

EVERYBODY KNOWS Therefore all this talk about "peaceful negotiations" is bunk, and everybody knows it. Everybody knows that you cannot make any kind of agreement, under threat of force or without any threat of force, during a mobilization, that will be worth anything from one day to another with the present "peaceful negotiations" of Germany.

Everybody knows that this government fills all countries with its spies and propagandists—propagandists who have not even anything to propagate; revolutionists without a revolutionary idea; ideologists without an ideology; for where is the ideology that can make a front against Communism and switch from one moment to the next to a "Heil Hitler—Rot Front!"

The Frenchmen who twice this year have marched to the Maginot line have not even the security of the right to "peaceful negotiations." The Englishmen and women who have equipped themselves with gas masks and prepared for air raids for the second time this year have not even the security of the right to "peaceful negotiations." They are not prepared to fight for the Polish Corridor or Danzig.

They are prepared to fight to get rid of Hitler. The cry in their hearts is "End this infamy! End this rule of blackmail! End this barbarian persecution which is the more disgusting because it justifies itself in unctuous words about 'purity of race!'"

A WORLD-WIDE FEELING There is no belief in the world in the status quo nor any desire to keep it. There is something wrong with the status quo when in all countries there is either tyranny and slavery or unemployment and chaos.

The people of the world feel, somehow, in their nerves and hearts, and in their minds, that what we might just as well be standing at the beginning of a great era of intelligent and affectionate co-operation as at the beginning of universal destruction.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

The World NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The earth is shaking or hell-raising developments of the last week prompt the disquieting thought that the whole world is crazy or that, at the very best, the affairs of the world are inconsistent and shallow as any sewing circle. Naturally, Americans pursued their lips and blew a vulgar note at the Nazis and Bolos when those two cats made up their quarrel and thereby confirmed the old contention that all that either one had ever said of the other not only was true but wasn't the half of it.

But then it became apparent that by falling in with Stalin, Hitler automatically fell out with Japan, and that has made it all the more difficult, of course, to make a difference to the British, and, no doubt, to the United States.

And the Japanese nation, by the simple act of tossing out one cabinet and selecting a moderate soldier have repudiated their policy of stealing the British pants and are now proceeding on a program of conciliation and understanding with the British and us. It would seem unthinkable, if we didn't know enough about nations to know that it can be true, that Britain ever could forgive the humiliation that was done her by the irresponsible, of course, acts of the Japanese sergeants. But, remembering that nations and peoples easily forgive and forget episodes in which they slay one another by the hundreds of thousands, one must admit that the regrettable affairs of the Englishmen's and ladies' pants is no permanent bar to a healthy and mutually respectful understanding.

The Public Mind The retiring prime minister of Japan said merely and blandly that in view of the perfidious deal between Hitler and Stalin the Japanese government must abandon its old policy, create a new one based on new ideas, and renovate the public mind. In simpler words, he found that he had been taking liberties with the wrong bristles—a revision of eternal truth which doubtless will be followed by a declaration from Berlin that the Japanese are Oriental Aryans, after all, but Oriental Jews, as witness the name of their new prime minister, Nobuyuki Abe.

It was only within the last year or two that the docile Boche, already stupefied by much learning that warred with his knowledge, and, of course, was informed of the eternal truth that the Japanese were Oriental Aryans. But eternity itself is the creation and gift of the greasy corporal, and he that giveth also taketh away. And not long before that the Boche had learned that the Italians were an inferior order of cattle because, Der Fuehrer said, persons having short legs, dark complexion and hooked noses—a good police description of the Italian king-emperor—were non-Aryan and "like-ly" either Jewish or a weak mule.

This he had to learn, mile between one edition and another of the Beobachter. An eternal truth shot to hell is a fingersnap when Hitler and the Duce made their deal and Mussolini made long-legged, fair-haired, blue-eyed Germany his Neapolitan and Sicilian by simple fiat of his inflexible will.

GOOD MORNING By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

PROGRESS. With the world trembling on the brink of another war, with governments straining beneath unprecedented tax burdens, with freedom everywhere endangered, one is tempted to wonder if we are entering upon a prolonged period of retrogression. Coming nearer home, we can scarcely be unmindful of the plight of our own state when many schools have been taken from the accredited list and another school term brings challenge to the credit structure of state, county and municipal governments. Many farms have been abandoned and thousands upon thousands are on relief in the largest cities of our state.

Meanwhile, statements continue to indicate much idle money—perhaps the largest percentage in the history of our state and nation. Uncertainties of governmental experiments have tended to freeze the sources of credit.

Young people, with high school and college training, are unemployed. Thriftiness is less emphasized than it used to be. The fallacy of the world owning everybody a living persists, nurtured by theorists who have had a hard hand in dealing out public funds.

But in the face of it all, I believe we shall progress rather than retrogress. I believe we shall grow stronger as a people. I believe that the basic doctrine of democracy is the heart of our people. I believe that we will tear away the tinsel and put to flight the termites of Communism and Fascism and Socialism and Paganism. I believe we will stop this outrageous business of organized crime which is costing our state and our nation not only millions of dollars annually, but destroying so many of our young people.

And what do I base my faith upon? Upon a quiet turning of the hearts of our people to God. The frightening condition of the world, either crushed or awake us, and I believe it will awake us. There are evidences everywhere that people are opening their eyes, enough of them, and if we can have a few leaders in every community who will stand up and fight for what they know is right under God, the people will follow, and we shall again be on our way in the fashion of our fathers.

This is our Father's world. That is the word for today. If only our people will accept this inclusive truth, all other essential principles of progress will be clearly outlined in our vision of a better way of life. All questions, whether economic, social, political or what not, will be answered when we accept the fundamental truth that this is our Father's world, and I believe that truth is fixing itself in the hearts of our people.

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH McGILL.

OF COURSE, COMRADES, 'TIS BITTER Communists have never excited me because I know the common sense of the American people is too great to accept that doctrine. And also because I know that scratch a Communist and you will find scar tissue of bitterness inspired by some economic maladjustment.

The professional Communists have been, and are, a humorless, irrational lot. In the past two days there have come a letter, anonymous, and an envelop containing clippings from the Daily and Sunday Worker.

There is a desperate effort being made to save the face of Comrade Browder, leader of the party in America. He is saying the treaty between Germany and Russia is a natural one and all a part of Russia's great "peace" plans for saving the world.

It just won't do, Comrades. 'Tis a bitter dose! And must be swallowed. They let Comrade Browder down. The record is too clear. There is no escaping it. No mental gymnastics will do the trick. No hysteria about the lies of a "capitalist press" will help a bit.

HIS OWN RECORD The record is not from the press but from Comrade Browder's own book and from the receipt of Public Affairs in Charlottesville, Va., Earl R. Browder was one of the speakers. In the open forum he answered questions. The record shows this question and answer:

Q. "Is there any possibility, as has been often suggested, of the Soviet Union entering into an agreement with Germany?"

A. "The most active source of such rumors is Berlin, which has hopes of confusing the democracies by such stories. There is about as much chance of such an agreement as of Earl Browder being elected president of the American Chamber of Commerce."

That was Comrade Browder's answer, Comrades. It is not culled from a capitalist press but from the chief of the party. The entire record of the Charlottesville meeting was studied with similar sentiment.

That was from his questions and answers, following his speech. From his book, "Fighting for Peace," which appeared a few weeks before the Virginia conference, we have another of his statements. It is to be found on page 204, in the chapter, "Social and National Security," as follows:

"If there were any persons who listened to the Fascist-inspired whispers that the Soviet Union was self likely to be swung to the side of the Munich powers, their answer is to be found in the thorough house cleaning which swept all spies, wreckers and diversionist agents of the Fascist powers into the wastebasket of history."

That's it—from the Comrade's own mind, not from a hostile press. Not a word of it appeared in the press. He spoke at Virginia. He wrote his book.

So, let's be honest, Comrades. You and Comrade Browder were sold out. It came as a shock. You look somewhat ridiculous trying to explain it. I'm not a red-baiter. I grant sincerity to some of the rank and file, but little to the leaders who so patently are fakes. Comrade Browder can't explain away his own words with talk of "peace." All those who died in Spain, fighting the Germans and Italians, were duped just as were those who fought for them. The pact is not a blow for peace except it may open the eyes of the German people, who fundamentally, are a decent people.

I say we can build a world of our own with an ideology of the dignity of the individual as its goal. It can be built with honesty, education and work.

We have seen that "blood purges" and "thorough house cleanings" do not do the job.

WHY NOT AMERICA? It is a curious commentary on our national life that we have so many organizations. There is the sheeted and wholly discredited Klan, which is anti-Communist. There are the Silver Shirts and other foolish organizations which are, one may assume, anti-Communist and probably pro-Fascist. There are the German Bunds, which are pro-German and pro-Hitler and anti-America. There are the Communists themselves who are so deluded they believe a revolution by peasants in a purely agrarian nation can be fitted to the greatest industrial nation and the one which, despite its faults, has given the average man the most opportunity.

There are so many organizations which are pro-ths and anti-thats, one cannot help but wish they would all disband, put away their silly hoods, their ridiculous silver shirts, their white camellias, their swastikas and come over to the side of America. That our industrial production and consumption of goods have failed to balance does not at all mean we have failed.

In no other country does reform come—and stay—as in this one. Once attained here, it is not lost. Only in a representative republic with democratic ideals and practices may the better institutions of life grow and expand.

If the Master Is a Thief, He Cannot Expect His Servants To Be Honest

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

A few centuries ago, the only rule governing commerce was the saying: "Let the buyer beware." Cheating was proof of superior wit. All deals were made for cash, for there was little faith in man's honesty.

The great expansion of business that is familiar to us was made possible by credit, and credit developed when men learned to respect contracts.

Business became a game, controlled by rules of fair play and good sportsmanship. It became a point of honor to keep a pledge. A man's word was good or he was a rogue. The seller's reputation stood back of his wares. Contracts were sacred.

Rogues and cheats remain, but the great majority of those who do business are honest and trustworthy. And this is the foundation and framework and very life of modern business, for without it there could be no credit or safety or assurance, and order would give way to chaos.

The trustworthiness of modern man has done more to expand business. It is in fact the foundation of our whole civilization. No nation could support a police force sufficient to maintain order and security if the people would not voluntarily behave decently. The laws are no longer enforced by the sword. People respect the unwritten contract that pledges them to honor the rules of civilization.

If respect for contracts makes our civilization possible, it is obvious that universal violation of contracts will quickly destroy it. And that is the danger we face now. For men and nations have learned that contracts can be broken with apparent impunity; that such cheating pays an immediate profit; and this blinds them to the fact that civilization must inevitably collapse when men can no longer trust one another.

The brazen prostitution of national honor began when Germany violated the "scrap of paper" that protected Belgium. It became a custom when England and France led smaller nations in welching on their debts; Russia, Japan, Italy, Hitler's Germany and Latin America made it universal. Treaties are no longer worth the paper they are written on.

Now the decay has spread to private citizens. Our government made it respectable to violate contracts to "save ourselves." Cheating became a national habit. Many people no longer felt under contract to be good citizens; their one concern was to get. And the decay of honor is fast leading to the final step that means chaos—the sneaking sabotage that indicates utter loss of responsible manhood.

The great have no reason to complain. They planted the seed and set the example for all mankind.

TRAFFIC VIOLATORS FACE STIFF FINES

Recorders, Police Plan to
'Crack Down' on Speeders,
Drunken Drivers.

Firmer enforcement of Atlanta's traffic laws and "stricter" punishment for second offenders, particularly drunken drivers and speeders, was agreed upon as a permanent policy yesterday by Recorder John Cone, Recorder A. W. Callaway, Police Chief M. A. Hornsby, Police Committee Chairman C. M. Bolen and Mayor Hartsfield.

These five who direct the enforcement of law and mete out the punishment for violators met in a two-hour conference at the chief's office following inability to obtain passage of a city ordinance making jail sentences mandatory for drunken drivers.

"A general tightening up" was the description Chief Hornsby gave of the campaign to be waged by both the police department and the judges of the recorder's court against "repeaters"—persons who are arrested for traffic violations more than once.

The chief announced at the same time that he is going to "double the amount of bond required on a speeding charge and more than double the collateral which must be put up on a drunk-driving case."

He said that a "good percentage of the cases made by police are for second and third offenders."

JONESBORO RESIDENCE LOOTED BY THIEVES

Thieves with a penchant for neatness burglarized the home of L. C. Lawrence told police his examination showed that the thieves had come through a side window.

Fraud Charged to Gullatt

Fulton Tax Assessor's Immediate Dismissal Is Urged as Grand Jurors
Return Indictment.

C. Homer Gullatt, former member of the Georgia house of representatives before the merger of Fulton and Campbell counties and for the past five years Fulton county tax assessor, yesterday was indicted by the Fulton county grand jury.

He was charged specifically with defrauding the county of $223.35 in the sale of approximately 80 acres of land to the county for establishing the Dixie Lake golf course at Dixie Lake park.

The indictment was one of the last official acts of the July-August grand jury, headed by Thomas C. Law, foreman.

Says Jury "Half-Cocked."

Apprised of the indictment, Gullatt issued the following statement:

"I never defrauded Fulton county out of a cent in my life and never will as long as I am in my right mind. The grand jury investigation of this matter was 'half-cocked.'"

"I shall demand a trial at the earliest possible opportunity and am confident of the result."

"I am not surprised at this effort to embarrass me in view of my long and relentless war on influential tax evaders. That is the only statement I wish to make at this time, except to say that the loan on which the alleged fraud is based is a matter of record and I have photostatic copies of it."

Gullatt has long been one of the most influential citizens of the old Campbell county area. He championed the merger of his county with Fulton while he was a member of the legislature.

Law said he had no statement to make, but that the indictment would speak for itself.

In addition, the grand jury urged Gullatt's immediate dismissal by the county commissioners.

The indictment charged that Gullatt claimed he had a loan of $7,445 against the property he sold to the county, bearing interest at 6 per cent from May 5, 1937, and that the interest from May 5, 1937, until November 4, 1937, the date of the sale to Fulton county, amounted to $223.35. It was in connection with the interest that the grand jury specifically charged Gullatt with defrauding the county, contending that no such loan was ever made.

RUSSIA RATIFIES NAZI AGREEMENT

Turned to Germany After
Anglo-French Negotiations
Failed, Premier Says.

MOSCOW, Aug. 31.—(AP)—(Passed by British Censor)—After hearing from Premier Vyacheslav Molotov an explanation of the failure of Anglo-French-Soviet negotiations, the Russian parliament tonight unanimously ratified the Soviet-German pact of non-aggression.

"In order that you may more fully understand the Soviet-German nonaggression pact, it is necessary that I explain the Anglo-French-Soviet negotiations in Moscow," said the premier, before asking the parliament to ratify the pact.

He then stated that the negotiations, which lasted four months, had met obstacles which proved insurmountable.

This was so because "a mutual aid pact with England and France could be significant only if military co-operation were possible. But the negotiations and the staff talks proved not only that, but also that England, far from objecting to the Polish stand, supported it."

DIXIE LAKE PARK.

(Previously Molotov had stated that Poland objected to passage of Soviet troops over Polish territory).

Molotov further stated that the English stand on the Polish objections, as well as England's action in sending low-ranking officials to negotiate and dispatching a military mission without giving it rights or even a mandate, doomed the negotiations to failure.

"Furthermore," said Molotov, "England insisted on a clause about indirect aggression which would enable England and France to wriggle out of their obligations to the Soviet Union. Can you see the difference between such a pact and one based on bluff?" asked the premier, his last words being drowned in the laughter of the deputies.

It was only after the Russians were convinced that negotiations were doomed that they turned to Germany, Molotov asserted.

JUVENILE FARM TRUSTEES ASKED

Outgoing Grand Jury Recommends Establishment of 12-Man Board.

Establishment of a 12-man board of trustees with "full authority to direct operation" of the white, juvenile industrial farm, Hapeville, and all other juvenile farms was one of the major recommendations yesterday of the outgoing July-August grand jury.

The board would have supervision over the proposed institution of a system of vocational training for the institutions with rehabilitation of inmates as the major objective.

Jurors recommended the following initial board: Ralph McGill, executive editor of The Atlanta Constitution; I. Gloor Hailley, chairman of the Atlanta Board of Education; the Journal of Labor; Dewey Johnson, president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, and Henry Mayes, of the state industrial schools.

GRAND JURY OKAYS ONE GOVERNMENT FOR CITY, COUNTY

Change Is Advocated in Sharp Blast at 'Waste and Laxness' in the Present System.

Attacking the present system of administering Fulton county government as "an invitation to inefficiency, waste and duplication, and an invitation to graft and corruption," the July-August grand jury yesterday in its final session recommended establishment of a single government for Atlanta and Fulton county.

Abolition of the spoils system in selection of employees and institution of a merit system; immediate selection of an administrative head for the county; discontinuance of administration of the county through subcommittees of the commission, a system which the grand jury said, "it is almost criminal to perpetuate;" consolidation of the offices of tax investigators and tax assessors and formation of a group of civic-minded citizens to keep the public acquainted with its government were among the major administrative changes urged.

Prior to release of the presentments a report of a special grand jury subcommittee investigating the county's transportation problem was made public recommending that at least 24 of the 111 employees receiving payment for operation of machines be stricken from the list.

"Each and every matter investigated by us pointed to waste where many dollars could be saved," the presentments said. "We believe proper administration of county affairs will not only eliminate the need for any increase in taxes, but could result in decrease of the present tax load. We believe this can be done without sacrifice of any essential public service."

Rap Clemency Abuse.
Among other recommendations were discontinuance of free telephones for any county employee; purchase of all county supplies and equipment through the purchasing department with bids being obtained for any purchase of $50 or more; revision of specifications on sewer piping to include vitrified clay or concrete; establishment of an advisory board to assist in operation of the white industrial farm at Hapeville and a request that the county commission investigate the feasibility of moving it to a county-owned tract near Adamsville; that judges of the superior court obtain the record of all defendants "before granting clemencies" expressing the hope that they "will follow the fine example of the governor and the state prison and parole commission in assisting us to clear up this alarming evil (the granting of clemency to repeaters)."

Urge War on "Bug."
Fulton county, Atlanta police and the sheriff's office were asked to establish a specially detailed squad to combat the numbers racket, which the jurors said they have been informed is as prevalent in Fulton county now as it was last year.

The jury recommended immediate approval of Commissioner Hailey's proposal to abolish stand-

Play Leads in Film Version of 'Golden Boy'

William Holden, who was selected after a nation-wide hunt to play the role of the violinist-prizefighter in the film version of Clifford Odets' play, "Golden Boy," is co-starred with Barbara Stanwyck at the Rialto opening today.

Atlanta Movie Theaters Exploit Downpour of Extravagant Films

Odets' 'Golden Boy' at Rialto; Hedy Lamarr at Grand; Bing Crosby at Fox; 'Sherlock Holmes' at Paramount; War Drama at Capitol.

By LEE ROGERS,

Motion Picture Editor.

It rained and poured extravagant films on Atlanta this week and the shower has been highly publicized.

"Golden Boy," Clifford Odets' famous story of the boy who abandoned a promising career as a violinist to seek easy money as a prizefighter, introduces William Holden as a new movie star at the Rialto.

"Lady of the Tropics" will find Hedy Lamarr and Robert Taylor romancing at the Grand in a picture which opened yesterday. This is Hedy's first picture to be released since she made such a hit in "Algiers," as the girl who was hard to get.

"The Star Maker," featuring Bing Crosby, is a musical cavalcade which opened yesterday at the Fox theater. It introduces the new singing star, 14-year-old Linda Ware.

Sherlock Holmes in the person of Basil Rathbone is the feature at the Paramount. The Capitol will open Sunday with the "Eagle and the Hawk," which has been reissued. The Rhodes is playing "The Wizard of Oz."

Rialto

Clifford Odets' famous story, "Golden Boy," opens its engagement at the Rialto theater today. Rouben Mamoulian, one of the half-dozen greatest production geniuses in Hollywood, produced and directed for Columbia. In the three principal roles are Barbara Stanwyck, as "the dame from Newark," Adolph Menjou as the cynical, disillusioned fight manager, and William Holden, as the "boy" himself.

Holden was chosen for the role after a search for the ideal player which lasted a year. His performance fully warrants all the care and trouble exercised.

Fox

That bright star of the entertainment world, Bing Crosby, shines more brilliantly than ever in his new picture, "The Star Maker," which opened yesterday at the Fox theater.

Hit Hasty Car Action.

Hitting at the appraisal value placed on county machines when they were sold to employees before the mileage allowance program became effective, the subcommittee of the grand jury said commissioners had been too hasty in making the new plan effective. It also expressed the opinion that a preferable basis of paying transportation costs for employees would be a flat three or four cents a mile rate.

Following are the 16 employees whom the committee and the grand jury said have no need for county-provided transportation: T. E. Roberts, superintendent of warehouse; superintendent of the sewer division; a post held until last Saturday by Mitchell C. Bishop, Probation Officers; Sim Manning, J. W. Maddox, J. W. Bridwell, J. M. ## SENATORS FAVOR SALES TAX PLAN

21 Out of 24 Legislators Meeting Here Back Levy, Spivey Reports.

By The Associated Press.

Senate President John B. Spivey announced last night 21 of 24 senators meeting here yesterday expressed themselves in favor of a sales tax "to permanently finance the program of state services."

The presiding officer added "they all spontaneously expressed themselves on the sales tax—they were not asked about it, but were called for a check on their sentiment on the economy committee fiscal plan."

This plan, estimated to swell state income $3,500,000 a year, is based primarily upon repealing the income tax law provision permitting deduction of federal taxes and pegging gasoline tax yield for allocated purposes at the June 30, 1938 level.

The remainder of the 52 senators

GRAND JURY COST $1,788, TREASURER OF COUNTY REPORTS

The July-August grand jury cost a total of $1,788, Mrs. Mabel Abbott MacNeill, Fulton county treasurer, said yesterday.

The amount is several hundreds of dollars above the average grand jury cost but was below the cost of $2,136 paid the 1936 September-October grand jury, which also investigated county affairs.

A record for the number of days paid one grand juror was believed set when Ed McGonigal, chairman of the committee which investigated the sewer division, drew pay for 42 days' work, W. H. Spratlin, deputy clerk who handles jury costs, revealed as he distributed pay to the jurors. They get $3 a day.

Several jurymen were paid for 33 and 35 days, he said. Grand jurors usually receive pay for only 16 or 20 days in a two-month term.

have been invited to meet Spivey here Tuesday for a similar face-to-face expression of views on whether a special session should be called and if so, the contents of a call.

Spivey said most of those present yesterday would vote for pegging, but indicated "it was close" on the income tax proposal "even as a last resort."

After the next Tuesday meeting, Governor Rivers, Spivey and House Speaker Roy V. Harris will confer on the legislative outlook and an early decision on a special session may follow.

Governor Rivers, who attended the meeting, did not comment.

Those attending the meeting today included Senators D. B. Wannell of Pembroke, J. T. Holt of Baxley, J. E. Brooks of Camilla, Adie N. Durden of Albany, W. M. Smith of Preston, V. C. Daves of Vienna, Wright Abbott Jr. of Louisville, Hawes Cloud of Crawfordville, W. M. New of Thomasville, J. E. Palmour Jr. of Gainesville, Paul Lindsay of Atlanta, Walter Estes of Rex, M. E. ## 'PEE WEE HITLERS' IN U. S. FLAYED BY DIES COMMITTEE

Nazi-Fascist Leaders Hit as Racketeers Trying to Destroy America; Seek 'Man on Horseback'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(P)—The Dies committee denounced tonight the "Pee-wee Hitlers" leading "Nazi-Fascist groups" in the United States and declared they were engaged both in "a form of racketeering" and in "subversive activity."

In a preliminary report on the investigation it has conducted of such groups, the committee asserted that "their primary aims appeared to be:

"(1) A radical change in the American form of government.
"(2) The collection of dues from such misguided citizens as will support them."

The committee said testimony it has received showed "a widespread co-operation between a half hundred of these Nazi-Fascist groups," with interchange of speakers, literature and attendance.

"On several occasions in recent months," the report continued, "they have made efforts to come together. So far these efforts have been frustrated by organizational jealousies, but the search for a 'man on horseback' goes on."

50-Year-Old Organ Too Fine To Trade In

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(P)—Washington Methodists started to sell, and have decided to keep, the church organ which has served the congregation more than a half century.

The organ, which was second-hand when it came here more than 50 years ago, was about to be traded in for $100 on a new instrument. An organ manufacturer's representative, who came here prepared to close the deal, became so enthusiastic over its tonal qualities and its fine construction that he discouraged the purchase of a new one. Instead, he asked for and obtained the privilege of reconditioning the old instrument.

U. S. SQUAD COMBS JAPANESE SHIP

Tampa Agents Find Vessel Unarmed; Set Watch for Wiegand.

TAMPA, Fla., Aug. 31.—(P)—A squad of U. S. customs inspectors carrying hammers and steel tape climbed aboard the Japanese motorship Karama Maru here today to search for arms and ammunition.

It was the first ship searched in Florida waters under special orders from Washington. No arms were found. Agents said the captain of the Karama Maru raised no objection and asked his officers to aid the inspectors.

The Karama Maru will clear tomorrow for Japan via New Orleans. Customs men in all Florida ports were directed to keep a sharp lookout for the German freighter Wiegand. Customs officials said the Wiegand did not have enough coal to carry it to Europe in response to the German order of all ships to return home.

Army Reorganization Effective Today

Fort McPherson Unit Must Forget Old Orders as Troops Assume New 'Streamline' Formation.

By JACK SPALDING.

Second battalion of the 22d Infantry assembles on Fort McPherson's parade ground this morning to forget a lot of old lessons and learn the streamlined infantry drill regulations that go into effect today. Under the streamline plan the army division now will consist of 22,000 men.

Tests have shown the simplified drill routine greatly increases the mobility of the infantry, needed as the armies of the world turn to swifter and more deadly machines of war. The change comes at a time when congress has voted tremendous expenditures for the armed forces to keep them on a comparable plane with forces of other nations.

Composition of the new army division, the smallest self-contained fighting unit, is ordinarily not less than two infantry brigades, two artillery regiments, three regiments of engineers, and auxiliary units such as medical, signal, quartermaster and tank corps detachments.

Smallest Unit.
The smallest unit of a division is the squad, consisting of 12 men.

Next in order is the platoon, which is a unit of three squads. A company consists of three rifle platoons and one headquarters platoon.

A battalion is composed of three rifle companies, headquarters platoon detachment and a heavy weapons company.

A regiment is made up of three battalions, one howitzer company, one service company and a headquarters company.

In a brigade are two regiments and a headquarters detachment, and finally making up a division are two infantry brigades, one field artillery brigade, one quartermaster regiment, one medical regiment, one engineer regiment and one ordnance company.

Gone forever are "Squads right," "Squads left," "Right by squads," "On right into line," "Left front into line," and other squad commands that have thrown innumerable green outfits into complete and magnificent confusion.

Eight-Man Squad.
Gone, too, is the old squad of eight, four men in the front rank, four more in the rear.

Substituting are twelve men squads, the men assembling in line; and the simple old orders of right, left and about face, column left and column right.

Discarded along with slow squad movements is the practice of shouldering arms after the command to march has been given. The new infantry first shoulders arms and then marches. Officers hope to eliminate the occasional cracked heads and the ragged appearance blamed on the old systems.

The composition of the entire Fort McPherson battalion has been affected. Squads will have twelve men instead of eight. The new platoons have three squads instead of three sections, made up of three squads each. The new companies are composed of three platoons of riflemen, and a headquarters platoon with machine guns and a 60 mm. howitzer.

3 Rifle Companies.
Yesterday, the second battalion was made up of three companies, a machine gun company and a headquarters company.

This morning it still has the three rifle companies and headquarters detachment, but the machine gun company has been converted into a heavy weapons unit.

Through the co-operation of Fourth Corps Area headquarters staff, who made a stack of military manuals available, a few laymen's definitions of other military terms likely to appear daily in the press if war breaks out in Europe were gathered.

While the majority of the definitions apply to United States infantry forces, they are largely applicable to similar European forces.

Regiment in infantry: three battalions, a howitzer company, service and headquarters companies.

Brigade Defined.
Brigade, two infantry regiments and a brigade headquarters detachment.

Army Corps—Two to 20 divisions.

Field Army—A variable number of army corps. There are four field armies in the United States, one commanded by Lieutenant General Stanley D. Embick, of Atlanta.

File—A column of men, one behind the other.

Flank—The right or left of a command in line or in column.

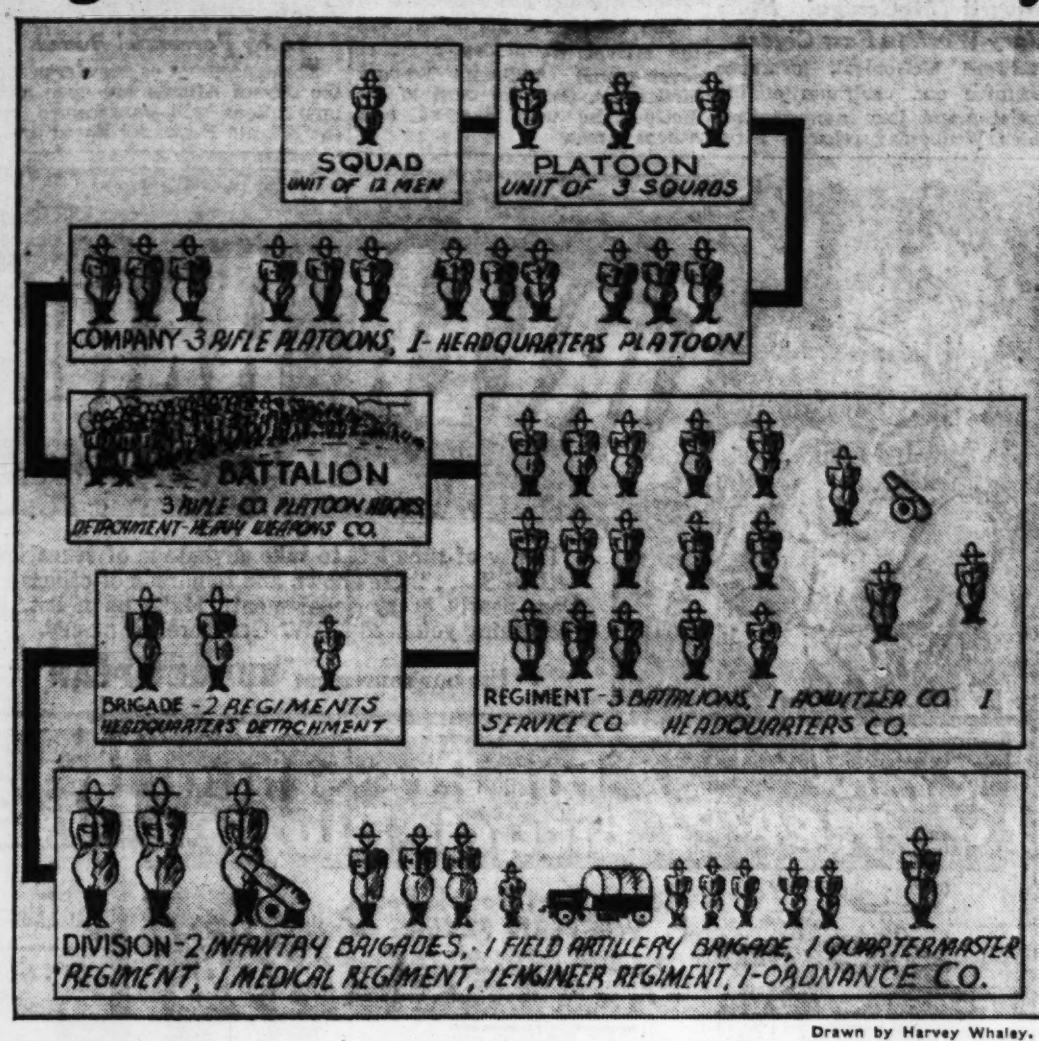

Front—Space occupied by an element measured from one flank to the opposite flank.

Head—The leading element of a column.

(Element may be a squad, section, platoon, company or larger unit, forming a part of a still larger unit.)

Base—The element on which a movement is regulated.

Battle Terms.
Column—A formation in which the elements are placed one behind another.

Eyewitness of Bombing in Spain Describes What London May Expect

(Editor's Note: Robert Okin covered the war in Spain for the Associated Press for 18 months. He was at the front in Madrid, Valencia and in Barcelona during the period of daily air raids. Here is his idea of what London might expect if war comes and air attacks start.)

By ROBERT OKIN.
LONDON, Aug. 31.—(P)—Modern warplanes and new methods of attack may bring a startling surprise to Britons who remember World War bombardments of London.

The World War air raids killed 1,413 persons, injured 3,407 others and caused damage estimated at $13,000,000.

There were, in all, about 100 raids in various parts of the British Isles then.

The war in Spain in which thousands were killed—more than 1,000 died in one three-day attack on Barcelona—gives a better view of what Britain might expect.

Will Come in Waves.
Instead of isolated flights to drop one load of bombs, enemy aircraft probably will come in waves at great heights. Heavy but swift bombers will come escorted by their own pursuit planes to fight off Royal Air Force defenders.

The three-day bombardment of Barcelona in March, 1938—one of the worst raids ever made on a city—gave those who experienced a taste of what may be in store.

With relentless unconcern for the white puffs of anti-aircraft fire, squadron after squadron of silvery bombers flew over the city. Coming every hour or two, day and night, they gave no rest.

Bombs crashed into homes, public buildings, hotels, stores and markets.

The populace lived in bomb shelters almost the whole three days except for those who, panic-stricken, fled from the city. Thousands camped in subways.

The din of sirens, anti-aircraft guns, bombs, ambulances and sometimes, the screams and sobs of the injured, told of those who remained. Lack of food and sleep—and fear—were mirrored in every face.

The air raiders came at night and in bad weather, flying by instruments. Some would feint protecting planes and the beams of searchlights to one area while others, with motors shut, glided quickly and silently down to bomb the city.

They dropped many of the new, 1,200-pound bombs that can shear off half the side of a building and spray shrapnel that kills and maims for 100 yards. They spread incendiary bombs that can start hundreds of simultaneous fires.

Power for Reprisals.
Defense commands cannot be sure exactly when to expect raids but the populace may know that another is due in half an hour or an hour.

Some come so quickly after previous raids that the "all clear" signal barely is silent before the sirens scream again.

Some raiders slip in without being detected so that no warning is given except the thunder of their exploding bombs.

But, new as is the raiding technique—both for bombing and machine-gunning roads and trains—new also is the anti-aircraft defense.

Britain will not have to build up a protective arm against air attacks as she did in the World War. She is ready now.

Neither in Spain nor in China have air raiders yet faced a powerful system backed by a rich and arms-building nation with the power to make reprisals.

Convicted Slayer Killed by Lightning

One terse sentence scribbled on the police file yesterday closed the record of Edgar Smith, 22-year-old Atlanta negro, twice convicted of murder within the last three years.

That sentence was "Killed by Lightning August 24."

Smith was sentenced to one to three years for killing a negro girl, Etta Glaze, of a Fort street address, on September 18, 1936. He was paroled after seven months.

On January 6, 1938, he shot in the back Willie Pollard, 50, negro, of a Fort street address, and was sentenced from three to ten years.

Smith was killed last week while serving his sentence at the Bellwood prison camp.

'GOODWILL' FLIERS RUN INTO PROTESTS

Anti-Japanese Demonstration Greets First Landing in United States.

SEATTLE, Aug. 31.—(P)—A Japanese aerial party, on a world goodwill flight, made its first landing in the United States late today and anti-Japanese demonstrators gathered to protest the visit.

While a crowd of Japanese and American-Japanese estimated at 3,000 gathered at Boeing Field to cheer the fliers, about 50 demonstrators with anti-Japanese banners appeared.

Meanwhile, in Los Angeles, a petition protesting an official reception for the fliers was received at the office of Mayor Bowron.

Irving E. Cline, secretary of the China Aid Council, said, "We do not think the flight will have much effect on American public opinion, but the resulting publicity can certainly be used in Japan to make it appear that our public officials favor Japanese policy in the Orient."

Two U. S. Navy Men Plunge to Deaths
STONY CREEK, Va., Aug. 31.—(P)—Two United States navy men plunged to their deaths today when their two-seater airplane fell into a swamp three miles northeast of this town. One body was pulled from beneath the wreckage before it caught fire. Parts of another were found in the water nearby.

BORROW ENOUGH MONEY TO PAY OFF OLD BILLS AND FOR EXTRA NEEDS

"In my interview today, Mr. Kemp, tell me if people are in the habit of borrowing more money than they need; or are there some that borrow less?"

"Well, Redins, if it isn't one it's the other you may think. But it's both. And to help in either case, if the borrower errs in the amount borrowed, there is one financial institution (that's the Industrial Loan people), which will rectify the borrower's mistake and help him straighten out his financial affairs."

"The Industrial Loan & Security Co. tell a man he can borrow, according to his needs—anywhere from $50 to $1,000 at Once

They don't arbitrarily fix the amount of a man's loan. He gets what he wants, if responsible and whether it takes him six months or two years to repay the loan.

"The man who borrows more than he needs, after paying old debts, is prone to spend the extra money ill-advisedly. If the balance of the money doesn't go for pressing necessities he may soon find himself 'short' of funds again."

"On the other hand, there is the man who borrows only enough to pay off old bills. Just a little hard luck, illness, short-time employment reduces him to a state where he can buy nothing but actual necessities, while he needs clothing or something else pretty badly."

"In both cases, Redins, the Industrial Loan people will either permit the borrower to increase his loan, to renew the loan, or make an agreeable extension of time. That is a personal service that has won for the Industrial the favor and patronage of all Atlanta."

"The Industrial Loan & Security Co. have an improved plan by which a man can pay all his old obligations and have a little money left over for emergencies. He can wipe the slate clean with one loan. And on that loan he can repay a little each month up to two years if desired. During that time loans may be renewed or increased. That's the news for today."

"This is an actual interview with Mr. Kemp by J. A. Redins, writer on financial subjects, and forms one of a series of advice of the Industrial Loan & Security Co., 211 Grant Bldg., of which Mr. Kemp is vice president in charge of loans. Call on him."

LARGE ADDITION IS COMPLETED AT CHEVROLET PLANT

Production of a Car Each Minute Will Be Made Possible by Increased Space and Equipment.

Work on the addition to the Chevrolet plant on McDonough boulevard has been completed and production machinery that will bring the plant's output to a car a minute is now being installed, officials announced yesterday.

The addition, 720 feet long and 120 feet wide, gives the plant 86,400 square feet more floor space. It was constructed for the purpose of installing an exclusively commercial car assembly line, and in response to southern demand step up production, officials said.

At present both commercial and passenger cars are assembled on the same line.

When machinery has been installed, the plant's output will be increased to 60 cars per hour; 40 passenger cars and 20 trucks.

Though plant officers declined comment, cost of the addition has been estimated at approximately $500,000.

In making the announcement officials said the plant has given continuous employment to its workers since the introduction of the 1939 models last October.

"We have gone through the entire production without a single reduction in days or hours of work," they said. "On the other hand there have been numerous increases in schedule from time to time."

"In increasing its capacity by these enlarged facilities Chevrolet looks forward with confidence to the coming year, and believes the prosperity demonstrated through the sale of their goods in the South will continue."

CATHOLIC LAYMEN TO GATHER HERE

24th Annual Georgia Convention Will Be Held on October 29.

Twenty-fourth annual convention of the Catholic Laymen's Association of Georgia will be held in Atlanta Sunday, October 29, President Alfred M. Battey, of Augusta, has announced.

Convention Mass will be sung that morning at the Cathedral of Christ the King, with the Most Rev. Gerald P. O'Hara, D. D., bishop of Savannah-Atlanta, officiating.

This will be the fifth annual convention the association has held in Atlanta since its organization. Past speakers at the Atlanta gatherings include United States Senator David L. Walsh, of Massachusetts; Admiral Benson and Bartley J. Doyle, of Philadelphia. Arrangements are now being made to secure a speaker of national reputation for the occasion.

First meeting of the Atlanta convention committee was held recently with Bernard J. Kason, president of the Atlanta branch of the association, presiding. Committee heads include Clarence Haverly and Estes Doremus.

POLICEMAN LOSES BARNYARD BATTLE WITH BIG ROOSTER

A barnyard battle between a Fulton county police sergeant and a rooster yesterday had been definitely won by the rooster. The policeman has a sprained wrist and the rooster—not a scratch.

Desk Sergeant Charley Lyle was the loser of the barnyard battle. As he told it, he was feeding his chickens the other afternoon and one big rooster kept taking up all the room in the hen's feed pan. Sergeant Lyle intended definitely to remove the rooster with a swift kick in the tail feathers.

But, he missed. So swift was his kick that he kicked himself entirely off his feet. Now he's wearing his right wrist in a sling. He admits the rooster is the cock-o'-the-walk now at the Lyle barnyard at 232 Dauphin avenue, East Point.

UNDERPASS SOUGHT FOR NORTH AVENUE

Sixth Ward Board of Trade Has Hopes for Project in 1940 Raised.

Construction of the East North avenue underpass will be sought by the new Sixth Ward Board of Trade, Robert R. Jennings, president, said yesterday following a meeting of the board.

The project was not officially approved as an objective by the board, since yesterday's meeting was not a regular one. However, a committee composed of Edgar Chambers, Eugene A. Brooks and Fred E. Scanning reported on an interview with Mayor Hartsfield relative to the underpass.

The committee quoted the mayor as saying that funds for the construction of the underpass could be included in the 1940 budget if the county would cooperate on a 50-50 basis. Cost of the project was estimated at between $150,000 and $175,000.

At the next meeting scheduled for Thursday, September 14, city councilmen, Fulton and DeKalb county commissioners will be invited, Jennings said. Meetings are held at the Briarcliff hotel.

The president announced the appointment of Oby Brewer as chairman of a special membership committee.

Directors added to the 12 already elected include Eugene A. Brooks, W. W. Ford and W. W. Matthews.

STATE RELIEF ROLL IS CUT TO 40,246

Wages of WPA Workers Raised Under New Schedule.

Federal relief rolls in Georgia were cut to 40,246 yesterday, bringing Works Projects Administration operations within the quota set for September by Federal Administrator F. C. Harrington.

WPA rolls for the state were listed at 38,298, while an additional 2,052 workers were tabulated under other federal agencies, including National Park Service, United States Forest Service and the army.

Dollar allotment set for September labor in Georgia by Colonel Harrington is $1,783,609, state headquarters said. This is to be distributed among the workers on the basis of new pay schedules approved August 15. The schedule increases WPA wages in the state from $3.90 to more than $7 a month, depending on the workers' classification.

September rolls compare with 50,048 workers carried in July. Slashes since then have been principally accomplished by releasing relief clients on the rolls continuously for 18 months or more.

POLICE CAR GETS IDENTIFYING SIGN

Experiment Represents Radical Departure From Policy of Atlanta Force.

Marking a radical departure in police policy, the Atlanta police department last night equipped one of its patrol cars with a sign identifying the department, and a red light, which flashes intermittently when the car is responding to a call or is chasing a law violator.

Equipping of all patrol cars in a similar manner long has been under consideration of city council and the police committee.

The equipment was placed on car No. 74, occupied in the evening watch by Lieutenant M. B. Petty and his driver, U. G. (Dusty) Oakes.

It is the opinion of proponents of the plan that the identifying sign and red flashing light will acquaint people with the fact that it is a police car engaged in its duty and not, as one officer put it, "a crazy man driving wildly through the city."

Brides-Elect Provide Subject For Comment in Today's Column

By Sally Forth.

THE engagement of Theresa Hamby and Tom Strickland, which was announced recently, is sealed by an exquisite diamond ring bearing sentimental background. The ring is centered by a large stone surrounded by 20 smaller gems which combine to form a cluster effect of unusual brilliance.

The center stone belonged to Tom's grandmother, the late Mrs. Ben Hill Veal, and served as her engagement ring when she became a bride many years ago. When her late daughter, Lucy, who later became Mrs. Ernest Ramspeck, was a young girl, Mrs. Veal had her ring reset with sapphires into a beautiful little finger ring for her daughter. The ring later became the treasure of her brother Tom, Theresa's fiancé.

For his bride-elect's engagement ring Tom had the center diamond encircled with smaller diamonds. The sapphires in the ring worn by his aunt, the late Mrs. Ramspeck, will now be fashioned into a pin which Theresa will wear on her wedding gown. The pin will serve as both the "something borrowed" and the "something blue" in Theresa's bridal array.

WHEN Peggy Ulrich becomes Mrs. John Rainey and moves into her new home, one of her closets will be filled with exquisite linens and coverings which are a part of her hope chest. The linens were embroidered by Mrs. Willis Milner Jr., who has been a devoted friend of the bride-elect's family since their arrival here for residence a score of years ago from Ohio.

Because of the deep friendship existing between the two families, Mrs. Milner requested permission to monogram Peggy's linens, an offer which was quickly accepted by the bride-elect, who is acquainted with the former's expert handwork.

Peggy also has a number of pieces which have been prized possessions in her mother's family for years. These are trimmed with handsome hand-drawn lace and heavy embroidery. Mrs. W. M. Rainey, mother of the groom-elect, has made a colorful patchwork quilt for the couple, as well as a crocheted bedspread.

THE number 13 holds unusual significance for Jeanne Wallace, of Chattanooga, Tenn., and Tom Kennedy, of Marietta, whose engagement was announced recently. Both the bride-elect and her fiancé celebrate their birthdays on the 13th day of the month, and both were born on a Friday! Incidentally, Tom is exactly 13 inches taller than Jeanne!

Although the pair attended the University of Georgia, their romance began at Fairland Club, that enchanting playground in Tennessee.

The engagement ring gleaming from Jeanne's "fourth finger" belonged to Tom's mother, Mrs. Clarence P. Kennedy, prominent Marietta, who was before her marriage Miss Eva Shively. Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy, you know, have recently taken possession of their new air-conditioned home in Marietta, where the affianced couple will be frequent visitors after their marriage in the early fall.

"AT LAST, SIS!—YOU'RE USING GRAND TEA!"

I'VE BEEN TELLING YOU FOR AGES WHAT SMOOTH, RICH ICED TEA LIPTON'S MAKES! REALLY, SIS, DON'T YOU LIKE THE FLAVOR BETTER?

I'LL SAY! IT'S SIMPLY DELICIOUS—AND A MARVELOUS THIRST-QUENCHER! BUT BEST OF ALL, SALLY, I'VE FOUND THAT LIPTON'S COSTS LESS THAN HALF A CENT A GLASS!

FINER TEA—that was Sir Thomas Lipton's gift to the tea lovers of seven nations. Today no other tea is as popular as Lipton's. Here are the reasons:

1. WORLD-FAMOUS FLAVOR—smooth, full, rich, delicious.
2. TENDER YOUNG LEAVES—and luscious, flavorful buds—give extra fragrance and bouquet.
3. SUPERB BLEND—of unvarying quality—praised by professional tea experts.
4. DISTINCTIVE CHARACTER—from choice teas grown in Lipton's own Ceylon gardens.
5. ECONOMICAL—you use less Lipton's per glass—it's so rich in flavor.

It Isn't Half the Effort to Keep Slim That It Is To Reduce

Would-Be Slim Person Avoids "Ice-Box Habit"

By Ida Jean Kain.

Slim again... hallelujah! You never felt better in your life and you look like a new woman. Now you wonder why you didn't get your weight down long ago and regret that you gave some of the best years of your life to avoid dups. Not for anything in the world would you regain that ugly fat!

Good! You are in just the frame of mind to plan a program that will keep you slim—and that is the most satisfying step you've taken! It isn't half the effort to keep slim that it is to reduce. You can keep slim by habit. The reward of sensible dieting. All those weeks and months that you were eating the foods that keep you fit instead of fat have helped you to form new food habits. You are accustomed to eating certain foods and a certain amount of food.

Since appetite is responsible for your gain in the first place, be on guard against anything that encourages your appetite to get out of bounds again. And that includes such little habits as water drinking with the meals, taking too much salt, and nibbling between meals. If you will only stick to your rule of taking no more than one glass of liquid of any kind with the meal, it will go a long way toward helping you to stay streamlined. Not that water is fattening. It isn't. There isn't a calorie in a quart, but when you wash your food down with water, it stretches the stomach and lets your appetite out a notch. You should have eight glasses of water a day, however, between meals and it is a good plan to start the day with two glasses before breakfast.

Salt doesn't contain any calories either, but you have a better chance of staying slim if you leave the salt shaker on the other side of the table. Shaking salt over everything you eat, even before you taste it, is another habit that makes it hard to stay slim. Salt holds water in the tissues and makes you water-logged.

In getting slim, you broke the ice-box habit. You had to stop eating just before retiring and at odd times during the day. Now, if you begin to eat whenever you please, you will soon have the habit of taking these little snacks in addition to your regular meals and, the first thing you know, up the scales will go.

The more often you eat, the less chance there is of eating the right foods; the protective foods that were so important in your reducing menus are just as necessary as ever. Besides, by eating all the foods you need, you are not as apt to crave the foods you don't need and they are the ones that make you fat. Don't ever get away from the protective foods.

Here's a promise: If you will watch these habits for six months, your silhouette worries will be over. You'll have to think twice before doing something that will cause you to gain!

Your keeping slim program should continue to give the protective foods first place in the menu. If you have not already done so, send a stamped return envelope to Miss Kain, in care of The Atlanta Constitution, for the "Protective Diet Chart."

Panel-Front Dress

By Lillian Mae.

For those "at home" days this winter, you'll need at least one sturdy, becoming cotton house frock. A style that lets you do your work and receive unexpected callers with equal grace. This Lillian Mae dress for matrons is a gay home outfit that efficiently slenderizes too. The long center panel from neck to hem does the trick—it seems to just trim off the inches and make you tall and slim. Its bias-cut is even more effective if you use a checked, plaid or striped fabric. What an easy style to make, with no waistline seam and all straight, simple lines! Have the contrasting collar short or lengthen it to follow the line of the panel. And use ruffle trimming for a crisp touch.

Pattern 4138 is available in women's sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 takes 4 1/4 yards 35-inch fabric and 2 yards lace edging, 1-2 yard contrast.

Send 15 cents in coins for this Lillian Mae pattern. Do not send stamps. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

Announcing... Lillian Mae's brand-new fall and winter pattern book... just out! Are you a career girl? A thrifty housewife? A socially busy debutante? A gay co-ed? A "back-to-school girl"? A forty-plus? Whichever you are, you're ready for a new fall wardrobe... and here are tempting, easy-to-sew styles for your every need. Glamorous "dress-up" frocks and practical work-a-day clothes... a wardrobe on the budget plan... lingerie and at-home frocks! Send for your copy today! Book 15 cents.

For fall's black outfits, Louise Campbell, featured in the Paramount picture, "The Star Maker," uses the new make-up especially designed to be worn with black.

There's a Special Type of Beauty For Fall's New Black Outfit

By LILLIAN MAE.

Even though we still have warm weather—and will have for some weeks—when the first day of September comes around we just naturally start thinking about that "best" dress which must have a fall-ish look. And undoubtedly nine out of ten of them this fall will be black.

After all, black is such a relief from the pastels and prints which at this season begin to look and make us feel insipid when we really want to be "dressed up." While black gives just the proper touch of sophistication and dignity for the new season.

But what about the complexion we have been grooming these past months to look well with the pastels and prints? It just doesn't match fall's darker shades, which have a tendency to drain the color from your complexion. Your make-up will really make of you a "femme fatale" or a drab little mouse. And—after all—we are women!

I have received from one of the best cosmetic houses a chart on which has been worked out a series of make-ups especially designed to be worn with black—these make-up shades based entirely upon individual skin tones. Some make-ups do well when worked out according to eyes or hair, but when dealing with black, it is the skin-tone which is directly your guide.

Along with the chart, there came samples of the various make-ups, and I've had fun using them on myself and my associates of various complexions. The result is that I'm sold on the idea, and would like to pass along to you these suggestions so that when you go out in your new fall black for the first time—better still, when you don that stunning black evening frock, than which there is nothing more handsome—you'll beam with vivacity, and have general admiration.

Of course the items individually and collectively in this line are the very finest. Otherwise I wouldn't suggest that you use them, regardless of color schemes, or guide charts. So, tell sure that you are getting the best, in the best combinations.

Phone me and ask for the combination best suited to your skin, specifying whether fair, medium or dark, and I'll tell you what the line is, and your own best combination of the various items—powder, rouge, lipstick and eye shadow.

Of course I'll be glad to have you write me if you do not live in Atlanta, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

Carefree summer is over, autumn is here with its sobering thoughts. And many a young man or woman wonders "What will I be doing—where will I be—a year from now?"

Those going to college can look forward to an ever-expanding world of new knowledge, new contacts. But those unable to go—do they have only the same dull job to look forward to?

In these days of wide cultural resources no one needs to feel condemned to a rut, to uninteresting contacts. A college course can be had at home—and often your own special interest may be your best starting point.

Perhaps you delight in the athletic exhibitions you see in movie "shorts," you love to go to games. Then at your library read about the Olympics, first held in ancient Greece.

The Greeks, you find, were not only great in athletics, but in sculpture, philosophy, literature.

Study these subjects in outline books, read through the age-old, modern times and you will be "going to college." You will acquire the broad background of knowledge that marks the college type, that wins attention in social and business life.

Then, to this background the "executive viewpoint" for advancement in your job. Don't be content with knowing just your own part of the work. Read the trade journals of your business, the financial news pages, see your industry as a whole.

More detailed advice on planning your home college course is given in our 40-page booklet, "Suppose You Haven't Gone to College." Outlines a simple program for home study, lists what books to read on college subjects. Tells how you can make yourself a well-educated, cultivated person through the use of radio, newspapers, libraries, movies.

Send 15 cents in coins for our booklet, "SUPPOSE YOU HAVEN'T GONE TO COLLEGE, to Home Institute, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. Write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet....

SCHOOLBOY PATROL READY FOR DUTY

Establishment of Additional Units Is Urged by Sullivan.

School bells early next month will call 800,000 young Georgians to classes and 8,000 stalwart schoolboy patrolmen to protect them from death or injury as they travel to and from their homes.

If the last January-May record is repeated, motor mishaps will claim the lives of 42 of those children before the Christmas holidays close, Commissioner Lon Sullivan, of the Department of Public Safety, said. And, worse still, if the 1938 death rate prevails, a total of 122 school-age children will have been slaughtered by the end of 1939.

Still if the balance of the 1938 record is repeated, not one of those pupils will be killed either on streets or while getting on or off school buses where school boy patrolmen are on guard. Of the 42 school-age traffic fatalities of this year, only three were white pupils in transit to or from school and none where school controls were in existence. The American Automobile Association, one of the chief sponsors of the school patrols, says nothing can beat the Georgia record.

The tragic part of the picture, however, the commissioner said, is that in many communities of the state there are no patrol units.

In most communities, the American Automobile Association, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, American Legion, Parent-Teacher Association or civic clubs work with the police officials and the Georgia State Patrol in organizing and operating the school boy patrols. Forty leaders from various places of the state received certificates Friday from the safety conference held by the Department of Safety in Atlanta last week and they will expand the work in their communities.

These Delegates Can Argue Furiously Without Sound

By talking on their hands, these two delegates to the 11th annual convention of the Dixie Association of the Deaf carry on a spirited conversation without a sound. They are John W. McCandless, left, of Jackson, Miss., and J. A. Spurlin, of Atlanta.

Dixie Association of Deaf Meets, Argues Plenty But Makes No Noise

Reporter Faces Problem in Covering Eloquent Speeches
Conducted in Sign Language; 200 Delegates Assemble for Convention Here.

By LUKE GREENE.

A silent convention opened in Atlanta yesterday.

Although some 200 members of the Dixie Association of the Deaf were gathered at the Ansley hotel for their 11th annual meeting and were doing plenty of talking, they were not "heard" except by members of their own group, who understood the intricate hand movements which substitute for the spoken word.

Usually a convention is a time of great boisterousness. If anyone has any loud talking to do, he gets it off his chest at the convention.

For that reason, sessions are far from quiet, and the corridors of the hotel buzz with conversation.

Hear a Pin Drop.

Such was not the case yesterday at the Ansley, however. A meeting of the board of trustees was in session, but even there you could hear a pin drop, despite the fact a gentleman stood before the delegates apparently delivering a great oration.

A reporter found himself at somewhat of a disadvantage. There was a story to get, yet he couldn't hear a thing. He just sat and watched. The speaker grew eloquent. You could tell by his arm movements and facial expressions. The reporter grew restless. Evidently he was missing something.

At times several speeches were in progress simultaneously. And no one rapped the gavel for order. With the average convention such a procedure would result in pandemonium.

Governor Rivers and Mayor Hartsfield will deliver addresses of welcome this morning with Mrs. Bessie Simmons as official interpreter. Later there will be a message by President Herbert R. Smoak. The afternoon will be devoted to business.

The convention will continue through Sunday night.

Carrollton Power Festival Marks Completion of New Electric Unit

Five Counties—Carroll, Heard, Haralson, Paulding and Polk—Celebrate Building of 410 Miles of Lines to Serve Large Agricultural Section.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

CARROLLTON, Ga., Aug. 31.—Men, women and children of five west Georgia counties—Carroll, Heard, Haralson, Paulding and Polk—gathered on the campus of West Georgia College here today to celebrate the successful completion of 410 miles of rural electrification.

Two years ago this rural area was importing kerosene as its chief source of light, with only the large communities enjoying the luxuries afforded by electric lines.

July 29, 1937, the erection of three rural electrification projects, under federal government REA financing began.

Boyd Fisher Speaks.

Today, these farmers, members of the Carrollton Electric Membership Corporation, heard Boyd Fisher, of Washington, D. C., assistant administrator of the REA, congratulate them on the success of the co-operative they have established to supply themselves with electric light and power and assure them that theirs was one of the outstanding successes among the hundreds of co-operatives established throughout the nation.

As in many other sections of Georgia, these three projects in west Georgia have added to the scheduled for tomorrow night has been postponed until 8 o'clock the night of September 6 at the Henry Grady hotel.

Teachers of the Fulton county school system will be guests at a barbecue at 12:30 o'clock Friday afternoon in the Fulton High school cafeteria. Host for the occasion will be Superintendent of Schools Jere A. Wells.

Ralph McGill, executive editor of The Constitution, will be the principal speaker at a basketball picnic of the Burns' Club at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Fall classes of the Atlanta Truth Center will begin at 11 o'clock Monday morning. The public is invited to the five sessions held each week.

Colonel Samuel W. Wilkes, prominent Atlanta railroad man, celebrated his eighty-fifth birthday Thursday in his home town of Greenville, S. C., at the home of his sister, Mrs. Alester G. Furman.

Under $500 bond Vernon Screws, 25, of 1152 Selig avenue, S. W., was bound over to the Fulton county grand jury yesterday on a manslaughter charge. He is listed by police as the driver of an automobile which fatally injured Miss Doris Kendall, 14, of 246 Luckie street last Friday.

The annual reunion of the Thomas family will be held at the Grand park on Sunday, September 10. More than 100 members of this family are expected at the gathering this year.

'GONE WITH WIND' SCORED AS RAP AT UNION 'CHIVALRY'

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 31.—(P)—Aging veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic today elected John E. Andrew, of Quincy, Ill., as commander in chief and then fired a verbal barrage against the motion picture, "Gone With the Wind."

A resolution adopted in a long closed session by 100 representatives of 2,700,000 men enlisted in the Union army during the Civil War branded as "a defamatory film" the movie version of Margaret Mitchell's novel about life in Atlanta.

Introduced by Thomas Ambrose Sr., vice commander of the Department of Illinois, the resolution stated that a Union soldier in uniform was to be depicted as a "hideous marauder, attacking women" and that Atlanta was to be shown as being destroyed by General W. T. Sherman while citizens were still fleeing.

"The record of Union soldiers in the Civil War is one of chivalry toward women instead of bestiality and all military destruction wrought by Sherman's orders was for the purpose of aiding in the preservation of the Union and putting down the rebellion," it added.

All veterans were asked to avoid theaters showing the film and movie censors were requested to forbid its showing.

From the south came a quick statement by Mrs. Walter D. Lamar, of Macon, national leader in the United Daughters of the Confederacy. She said such "diatribe may cripple the fine relations" between the fast-thinning ranks of the veterans of the Union and the Confederacy, who met together for the first time last summer at Gettysburg.

THIEVES RIFLE OFFICE OF METAL COMPANY

Using a rock to break a window and gain entrance, vandals last night robbed the office of the National Iron & Metal Company at 386 Decatur street, it was reported by police. While it was reported that a diligent search of the office had been made, police said that nothing was missing but a revolver valued at $20 and a pint of whisky, worth $2.

EBERSOLE TO SPEAK.

DALTON, Ga., Aug. 31.—Harold L. Ebersole, president of the Atlanta Merchants' Association, will address the Dalton Retail Merchants' Association next Thursday night. L. L. Austin, secretary of the Atlanta Merchants' Association, also will appear on the program.

DETECTIVE LOSES HANDCUFFS—WITH A MAN ATTACHED

City Detective J. D. Corley was blushing last night. His partner, C. R. Allen, was rather embarrassed himself.

They were looking for Corley's handcuffs and couldn't find them. Dallas Smith, a negro, is wearing Corley's handcuffs and he has disappeared. The detectives had arrested Smith on Auburn street near Bell and just as Corley snapped his handcuffs on the negro's wrist Smith ran.

They're still looking for Smith, handcuffs and all.

HIGH SEAS ENDANGER SUMMER HOTEL GUESTS

TRURO, Mass., Aug. 31.—(P)—Coast guards threw ropes around a rambling summer hotel on the brink of a 100-foot sandy sea cliff tonight as 30-foot waves pounded at the base and seven of 15 summer residents refused to leave their rooms.

As the sea approached high tide (midnight, Atlanta time) guardsmen prepared to remove the seven "die-hards" in the hotel, owned by Mrs. Katherine Gelfoyen, near Ballston Beach.

TARZAN AND THE FIRES OF TOHR No. 161

As Ahtea drove the sacrificial knife toward Janetie's heart, Wong Tai leaped forward and threw himself between the two women. His shoulder struck Janetie and hurled her from the opening trap. Ahtea stumbled from her effort and dropped the knife.

The force of Wong's forward lunge and the power of collision carried him staggering to the brink of the pit where roared the Fires of Tohr. Tumbling, off balance, at the very edge of the chasm, the heroic Chinese pivoted and flung his arms around Ahtea.

A triumphant laugh rang from the lips of the doomed man. "He who strikes—with a sharp point—will not himself be safe—for long!" Tarzan darted forward, but he was too late. Dr. Wong plunged into the pit, dragging Ahtea with him.

"He saved your life, Janetie," Paul D'Arnot breathed. "May the All-Seeing guide his footsteps into the heaven-palaces of his venerable ancestors." Janetie bowed her head in reverent thanks. But Tarzan kept his eyes on the priests, who were growing savorily.

JOHN SMITH CO.

We again salute the great army of workers of America. Achievement is their motto! The accomplishments of the American workman are unsurpassed in the world. The first parade of the Knights of Labor was held the first Monday in September, 1882. Thirteen years before that day, in 1869, the JOHN SMITH CO. was established, and ever since, to this day, has faithfully tried to serve Labor as Labor has served us.

Today we offer you bargains in used automobiles, backed by those 70 years of honest business dealings, and "The Old Reliable" "Better-Than-a-Guarantee Plan."

NEW CHEVROLETS
We have 65 new 1939 Passenger Cars and Trucks for immediate delivery. Various colors and body types to select from, and are offering unusual trades and liberal terms. A New Chevrolet with our liberal allowance will solve your transportation problem.

DEMONSTRATORS
We also have several demonstrators that have low mileage and carry our new car warranty.

TRUCKS
We have 25 Chevrolet, Ford, Dodge and International 1-ton and 1 1/2-ton Trucks—Panels, Sedan Deliveries, Stake, Pick-ups and Panels.

CHEVROLET OWNERS:
At "The Old Reliable" you get Super-De Luxe Chevrolet service, done by graduated factory-trained mechanics at the same price you would pay for ordinary service elsewhere. A trial will convince you of the superiority of this De Luxe service.

CRIME TEARS ON

Craig Is Jealous Because Harvey Is Taking Yvette to the City

By CAROLYN WELLS.

At a cocktail party in Amy Crosby's home in Manhattan, Craig Madison, an architect, introduces himself to Yvette Verne, a new movie star, after he overhears her quarreling violently with Billy Gomez, a man unknown to him. The actress soon calms down, and when Craig invites her to spend the week end at the estate of his uncle, Harley Madison, in New Plymouth, Long Island, she becomes interested. She tells Craig she has heard of his uncle, who is regarded as an eccentric philanthropist. Miss Verne accepts the invitation and departs. Craig and his cousin, Tom Sheldon, both orphans, were brought up by their Uncle Harley, a widower. He lives with his sister, Cornelia, who helps him in his business. Hetty Carson, a spoiled housekeeper, and Ames, his secretary, Harley recently got the idea to rejuvenate the shabby town of New Plymouth and contemplate leaving two-thirds of his fortune to it. His plan for improving the town out of a common fund is opposed by those who want to be glorified by their donations. He refrains from abandoning the project because that would throw Craig, who is doing on building plans, out of business. Harley is puzzled by the attitude of the town to this cause. At the week-end party Yvette captivates everybody, especially Harley, much to the annoyance of Hetty. Alone in New York, the next morning Hetty tells Cornelia she saw Yvette meet a man in the Ivy Harbor. Yvette later denies this. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT XI.

"Yes, Hetty said she saw you go in," Cornelia said.
"Naturally," returned Yvette, "the blessed woman watched over me like a warder. Well, I got inside, and I think it is lovely. And I saw Elkanah tearing across the lawn, and some imp of gravity put it in my heart to give Elky a jolt. So, I went out through a back window, and when Elkanah arrived there was nobody home. It was funny to see the look on his face! It was more than surprise; it was something very like fear. I do believe he thinks I am in league with the powers of darkness."
"Where did you go?" asked Harley Madison, smiling at her.
"I climbed one of the big oak trees. You know Boscobel Oak, where Charles the Second hid, and every year since, they celebrated his birthday there. I'd like to have mine celebrated here."
"You shall," declared Harley. "If you haven't a birthday near by, I'll lend you mine. It will be here next week."
"But I won't."
"Oh, yes, you will. You'll have to stay now until you convince the Garsons that you're a proper human being."
"I know. Hetty thinks I'm insane."
"I want you to be friends with Hetty," Cornelia said, in her gentle way. "She is dear to me, if she is odd in her manner."
"I will, Miss Cornelia, and I'm sorry I made Elkanah think I was a demon of some sort. But I'll make it up to them. I want to hop over to New York this afternoon, and I'll bring them each something they'll like. You advise me what it shall be."

Yvette was so joyously eager, that Cornelia told her of various things the Garsons would like, so she could make her own choice. After luncheon, Yvette asked if she might be driven to the city, saying her own chauffeur would bring her back.
"I'll run you in, myself," Harley said, "and I'll dawdle round till you're ready, and then I'll bring you back. And I'll tell you what to buy for Hetty. I know what she likes as well as Corny does. Run along and get ready. Yvette, and we'll start now, and have a long afternoon."
"Nobody asked you, sir, she said," Yvette retorted. "I'll go in with you, but I have some business to attend to that will take some time. Perhaps, though, I can meet you later and come back with you."
"All that will take care of itself," Harley told her. "Any errand for Cornelia?"
"No, dear. But if the village fathers call up or send any message what shall I tell them?"

"Tell them first to go throw themselves in the lake, and if they don't fall in with the suggestion, then tell them to wait till I get home and I'll tell them where to go!"

Cornelia smiled at her brother, then looked suddenly serious.
"Don't take them too lightly, Harley. They are an untrustworthy lot, and they've treated you shamefully."

"Then it's up to me to treat them shamefully. Is that what you advise, Corny? I thought your guide was the Golden Rule."

Harley left the room, pausing to kiss his sister's cheek as he passed her.

"He's such a boy," she said to Anita. "I've heard those horrid men are planning against him, but he won't listen to a word about it."

"Who are planning, and what, Aunt Cornelia?" Craig asked.

He was flaming with jealousy because his uncle was taking Yvette to the city, but his staunch loyalty made him want to know, if plans were being made that would harm Harley Madison.

"I don't know, Craig. I've only heard rumors. But I know Mr. Hendricks and Mr. Potter want to put him out of the village council."

"Put him out! Why, Aunt Cornelia, they can't want that! There wouldn't be any council left!"

"I don't know about those things, Craig, but I wish you and Tom would inquire, discreetly, and see what you can learn."

She rose from the table, and the others followed her from the room and then went their several ways.

Tom Sheldon had a bee in his bonnet, which he wanted to see about. He sat down on a veranda bench that commanded a view of the interior of the living-room.

He waited patiently until Aggie came, as he expected, to look after ash-trays and glasses and what not in the way of tidying up. He managed to catch her eye, and beckoned her outside. The soft October breeze was not chilly, and the girl came out.

"What is it, Mr. Sheldon?" she said, nervously.

"Why are you so upset, Aggie?"

"You heard me. What is the matter with you?"

"Miss Cornelia doesn't like to have me talk to the family or the guests, Mr. Tom. There is nothing the matter with me."

"But you must talk when you are asked to do so."

"No, sir. Did you ever see a little trinket, Mr. Tom, that is three monkeys?"

"The Japanese toy? Yes. One has his hands over his eyes—"

"Yes, that's the thing I mean. Well, when I first came here to work, Miss Madison gave me a charm, she called it, like that. Mine is made of ivory. And she told me that it meant that I must hear no evil, see no evil and speak no evil. And she said that in my place, it meant that I must see or hear or speak nothing that was not intended for me to know. I have obeyed her, Mr. Tom, and I don't want to talk to you, for fear I might say something I didn't mean to. So, please, let me go now."

Tom Sheldon spoke more seriously.

"Aggie, you are quite right to obey Miss Madison, but there are times when you must be guided by others in authority. Now, I will explain to my aunt that I insist on your talking to me. There is a grave question to be settled, and I have a notion you can be of help. So listen, and tell me the truth."

Aggie's eyes grew big, but she said:

"Go on, then, Mr. Tom."

"First, then, own up that you are nervously upset about something, and tell me what it is."

Several times the girl started to speak. At last, she said, "I can't do it. I can't tell you."

Sheldon said, gently, "Is it about Hetty seeing Miss Verne in the Ivy Harbor?"

A sudden change of expression came to Aggie's pretty face.

"Why, yes, sir; it is."

"And you know something about Hetty's story. What is it?"

In a low voice Aggie replied: "I only know this, Mr. Tom. What Hetty says is so. For I too, saw Miss Verne and a man in the Ivy Harbor about 3 o'clock this morning."

"You saw her! What were you doing, awake at such an hour?"

"I was out with my boy friend. It was a special occasion, for it was my parents' silver wedding. Miss Cornelia knew it would be a late party, and she told me I might stay out as late as I liked. So I went to the party, and Bob went with me. We never got away till about 3 o'clock, and Bob brought me home here, and left me at the door. I have my own key to the servants' entrance."

"Well, go on. What about Miss Verne?"

"We came across the lawn, and as we passed the Ivy Harbor we saw Miss Verne and a man inside."

"Sitting down?"

"No, sir, they were standing up."

"Were you close enough to hear what they were saying?"

"Not quite, sir. But I could see 'em sorta peekin' about as if 'fraid somebody would catch 'em."

"Now, how could you see them, Aggie? It was a dark night."

"Why, Mr. Tom, the moon was just coming up. A loo-sided old thing, but it gave quite a light. Anyway, I saw them, plain as plain."

"And you're sure it was Miss Verne?"

Aggie twitched nervously, but she said:

"Yes, Mr. Tom, I'm sure it was Miss Verne."

"Did you see her face clearly?"

Tom asked, noting Aggie's hesitation.

"Not very."

"Then how can you be so sure it was Miss Verne?"

"Why, I knew her coat—that grand tweed coat she has. I could never mistake that coat! And her hat, with a lot of red velvet and a long black quill feather."

"Where does Miss Verne keep that hat and coat? Always in her own room?"

"Oh, no, sir. Lots of the time they hang on that rack in the game room. All the ladies keep some wraps there, so's to be handy."

"Well, then, Aggie, couldn't somebody else have put on Miss Verne's coat and hat, and gone out to the Ivy Harbor to meet some man, and so you and Hetty thought it was Miss Verne?"

"Aggie's eyes flew open wide."

"Oh, it could have been that way! It could! For, Mr. Tom, there was something about the figure I saw, that was the least mite different from Miss Verne's figure!"

"You're very observant. But let's suppose it was some one else, who had slipped on Miss Verne's hat and coat. Could you make a guess—as to who she might have been?"

Aggie twisted her apron frill.

"I could, Mr. Tom, but I don't want to."

New Officers, Directors for Atlanta Motor Club

Wiley Moore, center seated, was elected president of the Atlanta Motor Club yesterday, succeeding Robert P. McLarty, to his right. On Moore's left sits George Winship, vice president. Standing are Charles Bishop, left, secretary-manager, and Sherrard Kennedy, treasurer. Two new directors named were W. J. Cords and A. M. Ingram, replacing the late Herbert Porter, and Major General George Van Horn Moseley, retired.

WILEY MOORE NEW MOTOR CLUB HEAD

Work for Traffic Safety in Atlanta Reported at Meeting.

Wiley Moore was unanimously elected president of the Atlanta Motor Club yesterday, succeeding Robert P. McLarty, whose term expired. Other officers named were George Winship, first vice president; Ernest G. Beaudry, second vice president; Sherrard Kennedy, treasurer, and Charles Bishop, secretary-manager.

Two new directors were named to fill the places left vacant by the death of Herbert Porter and the resignation of Major General George Van Horn Moseley, retired. They were W. J. Cords and A. M. Ingram.

Win National Awards. Bishop, completing two and a half years as secretary-manager, gave a detailed report of club activities during McLarty's administration. Highlights of his report were:

Marked increase in membership, which won national awards for the club in 1938 and the first six months of 1939, from the American Automobile Association with which it is affiliated.

Doubling the number of school-boy patrols in the last two years by co-operating with the traffic bureau of the police department. The patrol was established in Fulton county schools by the club in 1929. With the aid of the police department, school authorities and P. T. A. officials, the patrol has grown to number between six and seven hundred.

Students Learn Driving. During the last two years, Bishop reported, more than 500 Atlanta high school students finished the club's course in "sportsmanlike driving," and 45 Georgia high school teachers were given special courses by an AAA expert to fit them for teaching the course in schools over the state.

In addition to sponsoring the state drivers' license law, the club brought experts to Atlanta to test thousands of drivers. The club directors, according to the report, were responsible for the establishment of the citizens' traffic safety committee and erected the traffic score board at Five Points.

Approximately 100,000 copies of Atlanta's traffic laws have been distributed through the club, and plans are now under way for local participation in a nation-wide pedestrian safety contest. The club has also maintained information booths at the Southeastern Fair for the last two years.

LOUISIANA RIPS OFF PLAQUES OF LECHE

Accused Governor's Image
Cut From College Buildings.

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 31. (AP)—Workmen on the Louisiana State University campus today ripped down 15 elaborate plaques of the face of former Governor Richard W. Leche, including those on the law school named in his honor.

The resigned executive who quit June 26, just as the university scandals began to break, now is under federal indictment charging him with accepting $67,000 graft in an alleged "hot oil" transaction.

A great part of the university's recent $13,500,000 campus construction program was completed under Leche's administration and while Dr. James Monroe Smith served as the school's president. Smith now is named in more than 40 criminal charges.

DIXIE OXFORD GROUP
WELCOMED BY CONE
SEBRING, Fla., Aug. 31. (AP)—Governor Fred P. Cone, has sent greetings to the Southern States Oxford group gathering here this week end.

The governor said "I wish for you an inspiring and successful meeting in the promotion of peace and good will to all nations at this unsettled period."

Juice of Georgia Grapes To Be Sampled at Market

New Vineyard Industry Said to Depend on Use by Home-
Makers; Experiment Station Has Developed Hunt
Muscadine for Farm Crop.

Grape juice made from Georgia-grown Hunt muscadines, which the state experiment station claims can be grown commercially for profit, will be demonstrated at the Farmers' Market on Glen Iris drive the week of September 12-16, the board of regents office announced yesterday.

"The Georgia Experiment Station has produced the Hunt type of grape for a period of years and the indications are that the production of these grapes will prove economically practical to the Georgia farmer," Dr. H. P. Stuckey, director of the Georgia Experiment Station, said. "Just what quantity of these grapes can be profitably marketed is an unanswered question, though it seems that the few vineyards now in existence supply a comparatively small proportion of that which could be used."

In addition to the exhibit of juice, there will be grape jellies, preserves and jams open for inspection and tasting.

Housewives will be furnished with recipes for the new products and growers will be given information on how to cultivate the varieties of grapes best suited to the soil and climate of their particular sections.

Dr. Stuckey said that "where a farmer has his own posts and can do his own work, about all the cash outlay he will have in starting a vineyard will be the cost of the wire and the nursery vines. If at the beginning he plants only an acre or two, he will gain experience in growing grapes and can layer and root his own vines for later plantings."

Market for the Georgia grapes will depend on the uses the housewives will put them to, Stuckey said.

G. E. A. WILL PLAN CITIZENSHIP THEME

Officers To Discuss Program for Coming Term at Meeting Today.

Plans for carrying out the Georgia Education Association's theme on "Citizenship" during the coming school year will be formulated today at a luncheon meeting of the board of directors, officers and district vice presidents, it was announced yesterday.

The meeting will be held at 12:30 o'clock at the Ansley hotel. At 10 o'clock this morning, also at the Ansley, the directors will receive the bids of Atlanta, Savannah, Macon and Augusta for the 1940 convention of the G. E. A.

Routine matters will be discussed at the luncheon meeting and the legislative committee will report. No discussion of the question of accrediting high schools was anticipated, officials said.

"Citizenship Day" will be observed in all schools October 12. The citizenship theme for the Georgia schools was chosen by Mark A. Smith, of Thomaston, president of the G. E. A.

Seventy persons are expected to attend today's luncheon meeting. Last night the association officials met in executive session to discuss the budget for the year.

HOLDUP ATTEMPT WITH TOY FAILS

15-Year-Old Runaway Held
By Police.

After failing in a hold-up which he attempted yesterday with a toy pistol, a 15-year-old runaway boy from Houston, Texas, was being held by city police.

Mrs. M. E. Berry, 2080 Ridge-dale road, N. E., said the boy approached her near the corner of Pryor street and Auburn avenue with the pistol in his hand. When she appeared nervous the boy said, "Don't faint, lady, it's only a toy pistol."

Mrs. Berry's screams attracted H. G. Hall, of Lakewood avenue, who held the youth until police arrived.

Yarab's Temple's caravan will return to Atlanta Sunday, but many will remain in the Lookout mountain region over Labor Day.

COL. H. M. COOPER ORDERED RETIRED

Army Officer, Native of Eastman, Now in Texas.

Orders retiring Colonel Hiram M. Cooper, of Eastman, were received yesterday by fourth corps area headquarters.

Colonel Cooper, now on recruiting duty at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, was graduated from West Point and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the infantry June, 1902. He is a graduate of the Army War College, general staff school, and the old army school of the line. During the World War he served as major, and then lieutenant colonel.
